Scots Make Blueprints for Future

1960 . . . Beginning of a decade, a blueprint for the future.

Before a builder begins work on a new house, he decides on a set of drawings known as blueprints. These diagrams serve as guides to insure him that the finished product will be a success. Like the builder, each Scot has a chance to make his "blueprint for the future" during his high school years.

Through the fine academic courses he gains knowledge and training that will be useful to him in his chosen occupational field. By participating in extracurricular activities and from association with students and teachers he matures socially. All facets of school life aid the pupil in some way to plan for the forthcoming years.

The 1960 Highlander attempts to picture the students of Highland Park High School as they make their "blueprints for the future."

Hi Park Students Attend Flag-Raising

Locations of Scot activity cover a wide range of territory, but the major portion of Hi Park's "doings" takes place in three main areas—the Administration Building, Highlander Stadium, and Highland Park High School itself.

Business concerning any of the schools in the Highland Park Independent School District is taken care of through the Administration Building. Such offices as those of the director of instruction and athletic director are situated here.

Echoing with shouts of enthusiastic fans, Highlander Stadium has seen many victories—and some defeats. During football season loyal Scots cheer on the Golden Avalanche while the track team occupies the field in the spring.

Hard work and fun go hand in hand in the senior high building. Busy Scots mix lots of studying with extracurricular activities such as club work, dances, and assemblies.

Miss Watkins listens to a question from one of her pupils.

Seniors Dedicate Highlander to Miss

Highland Park is very fortunate to have among its faculty members many teachers who have the ability to create the desire to learn in their classes. Because of her warm personality, quick sense of humor, and skill in educating her students in the field of English beyond the scope of regular textbooks, the 1960 Highlander is dedicated to Miss Hortense Watkins.

Miss Watkins first came to Scotland in 1947 after teaching in her hometown, Marlin, Texas. She received both her B.A. and M.A. from Southern Methodist University and taught there while doing graduate study. She is a member of Delta Kappa Gamma, an honorary sorority for teachers.

Last summer she toured the historic points of interest in England, gaining an even wider knowledge of the material covered in senior English.

Miss Watkins proudly displays the scores and ribbons from each gridiron success.

Hortense Watkins

She spent a week in Stratford-on-Avon studying Shakespeare's works and attending performances of his plays given there.

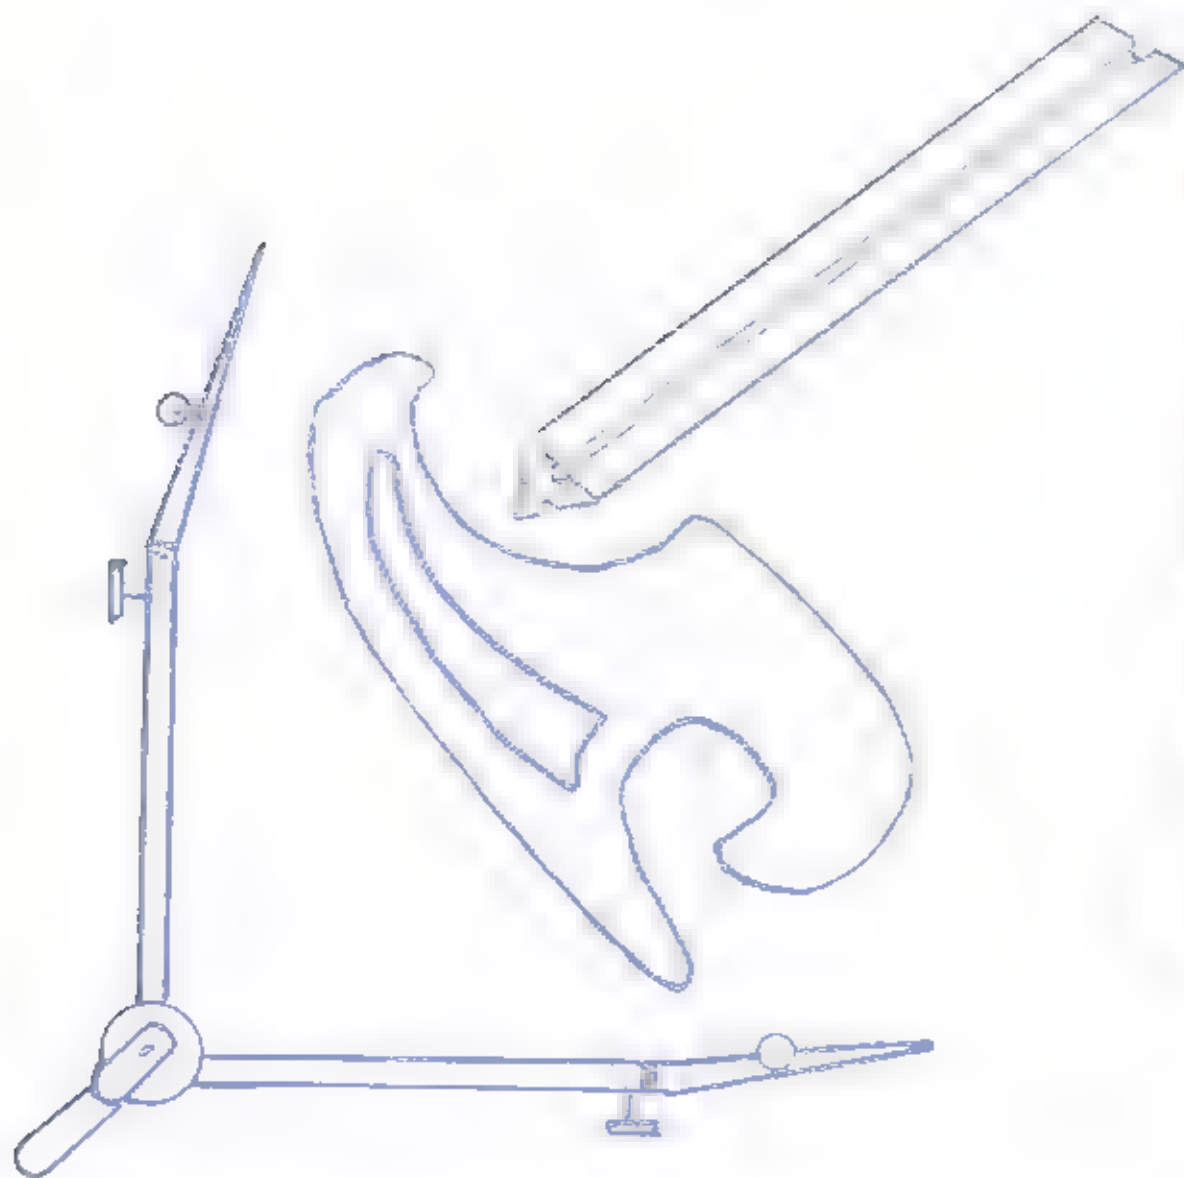

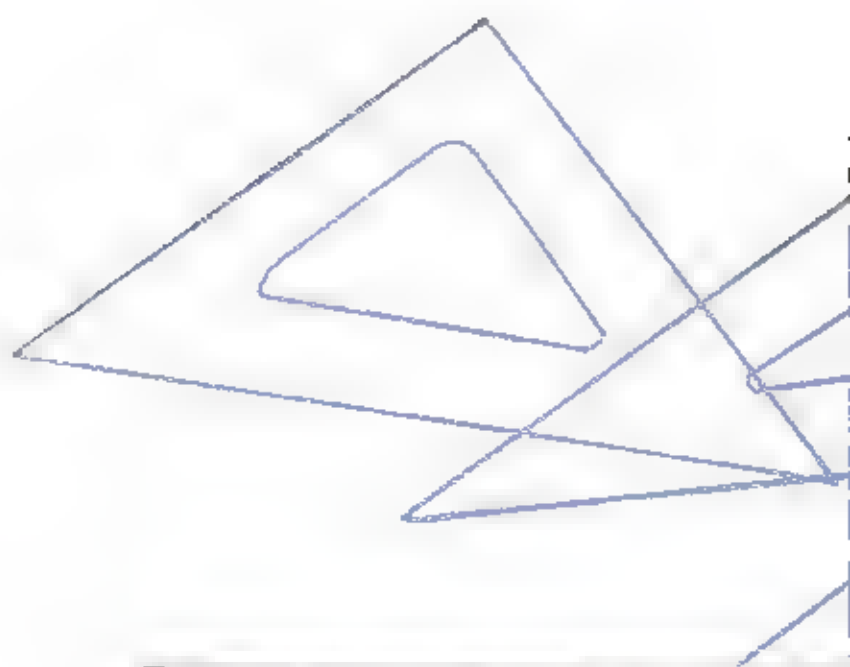

Combining a love for her profession with an eagerness to help others interested in a career of this type, Miss Watkins is always glad to have student teachers in her classes; she also instructs a night course at S.M.U. for those who wish to become English teachers. Another contribution she has made to the teaching field is the founding and sponsoring of the Future Teachers' Club at Hi Park.

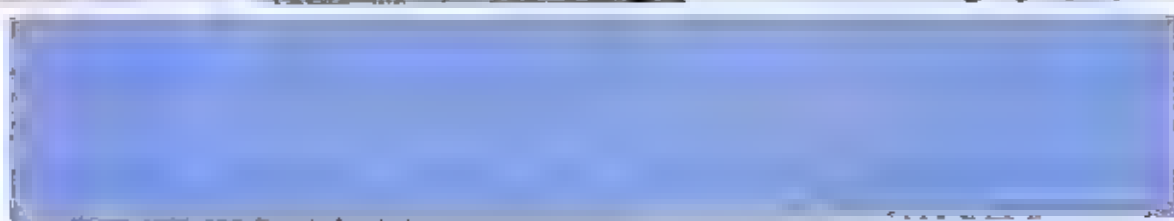

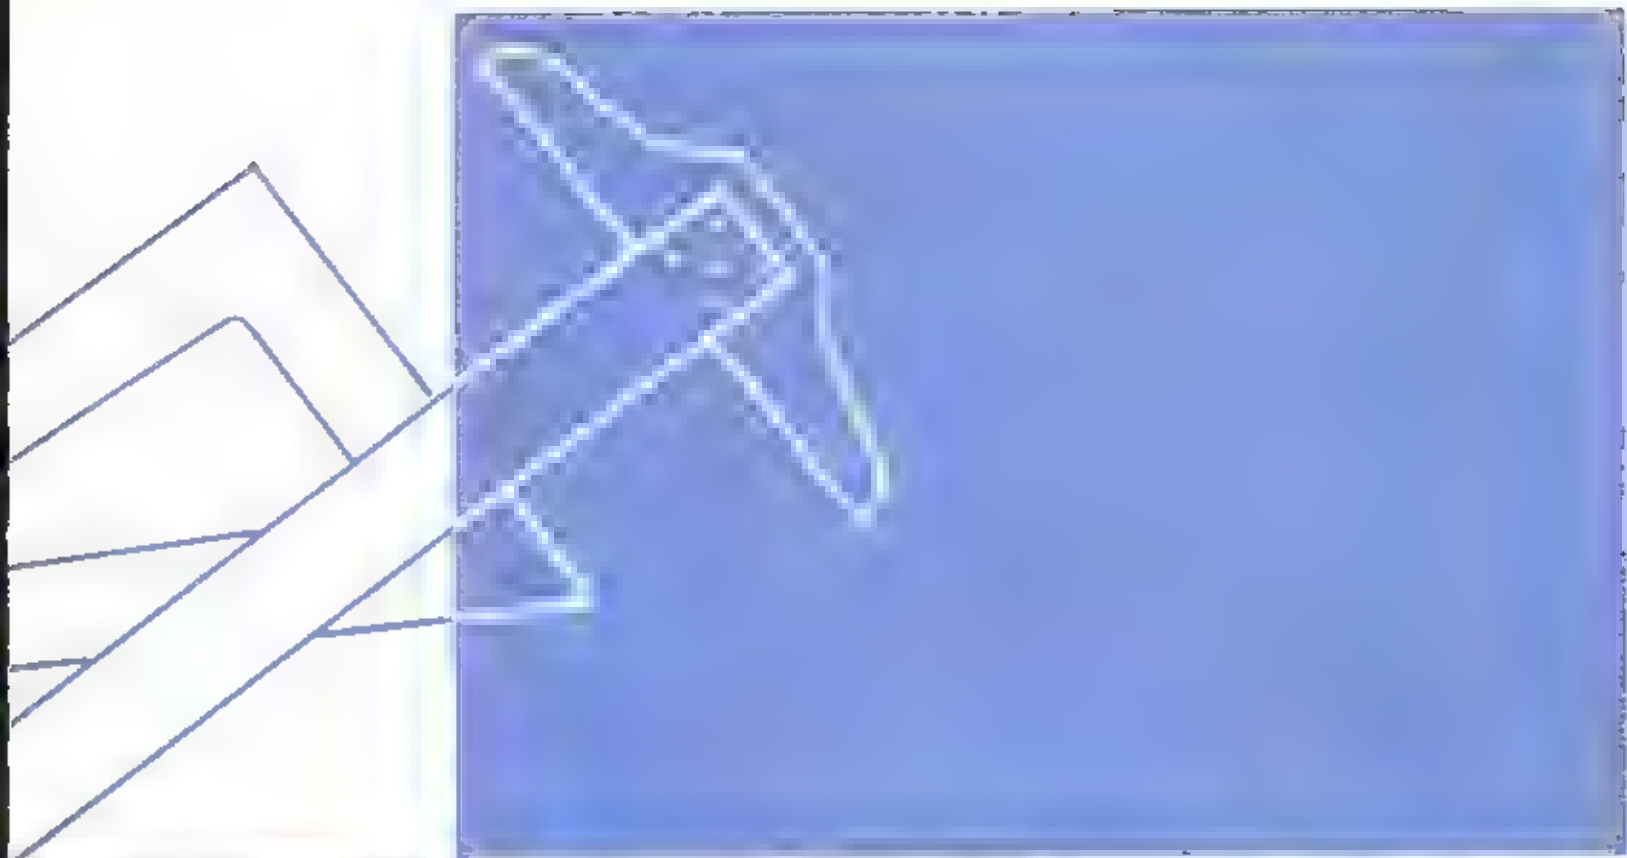

An avid football enthusiast, she attends all Scot games and follows carefully the progress of the Golden Avalanche by displaying on her cabinet door the ribbons and scores from each football victory. She also enjoys camping, cooking, and visiting her house in New Mexico.

Faculty Guides Studies of Scots

Highland Park faculty's superior ability to teach and instruct the members of the student body is shown by the large number of National Merit Finalists, through the 97 per cent of graduates who attend college, and in the general, well-rounded education of each Scot.

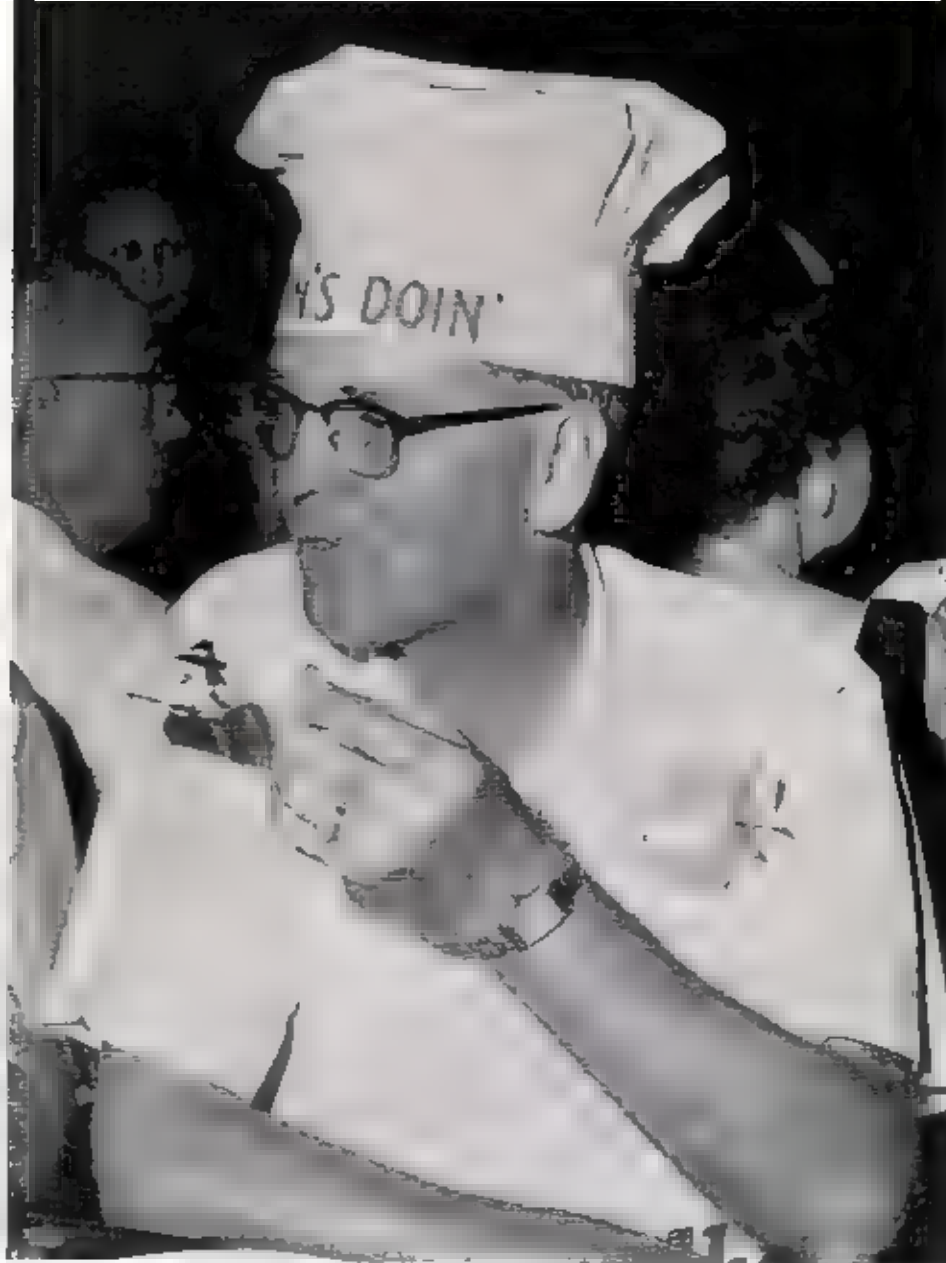

Guided by an excellent staff of teachers and administrators, every individual gains knowledge, learning, and ideals that will help him throughout all his life.

FRANK MONROE

Highland Park Schools*

What's doin' at the teachers' barbecue, Chef Monroe?

Monroe Supervises Park Cities' Schools

Hi Park students Betsy and Frank Monroe listen as their father explains how the Highland Park school district works.

One of Hi Park's most enthusiastic leaders of school spirit is its superintendent, Frank Monroe. Always present at pep rallies, athletic competitions, and other school functions, he inaugurated the custom of the victory apples after each gridiron success.

Mr. Monroe first taught school in Friona, Texas, and later at Pampa, during which time he took summer post-graduate work at the University of Missouri and Colorado State College of Education, where he was awarded his master's degree. He came to Hi Park as superintendent in 1954 from Midland, where he had been high school principal and then superintendent for thirteen years.

During the six years he has served as superintendent of the Highland Park Independent School District, programs of building expansion and improvement of teachers' salaries have been carried out. Mr. Monroe is outstanding among the superintendents of Texas in that he has held the office of president of the Texas Association of School Administrators.

Directly under Mr. Monroe are the business manager, director of instruction, director of athletics, and the principals of all the schools in the district. Along with these people and the members of the school board he always strives to improve and promote progress for Highland Park High School.

Board Represents Taxpayers of Park Cities

Matters ranging from determining the length of vacations to raising money come under the duties of Hi Park's school board.

The seven members are elected for three-year terms. They meet at least once a month to hear reports on school problems and accomplishments.

Representing the taxpayers of the Park Cities, they join with Mr. Monroe in deciding issues such as courses of study, taxes, and general programs of all schools in the Highland Park Independent School District.

BEN W. WISEMAN
Principal
Highland Park High School

Mrs. Cochran, a new teacher at Hi Park, seeks Mr. Wiseman's advice.

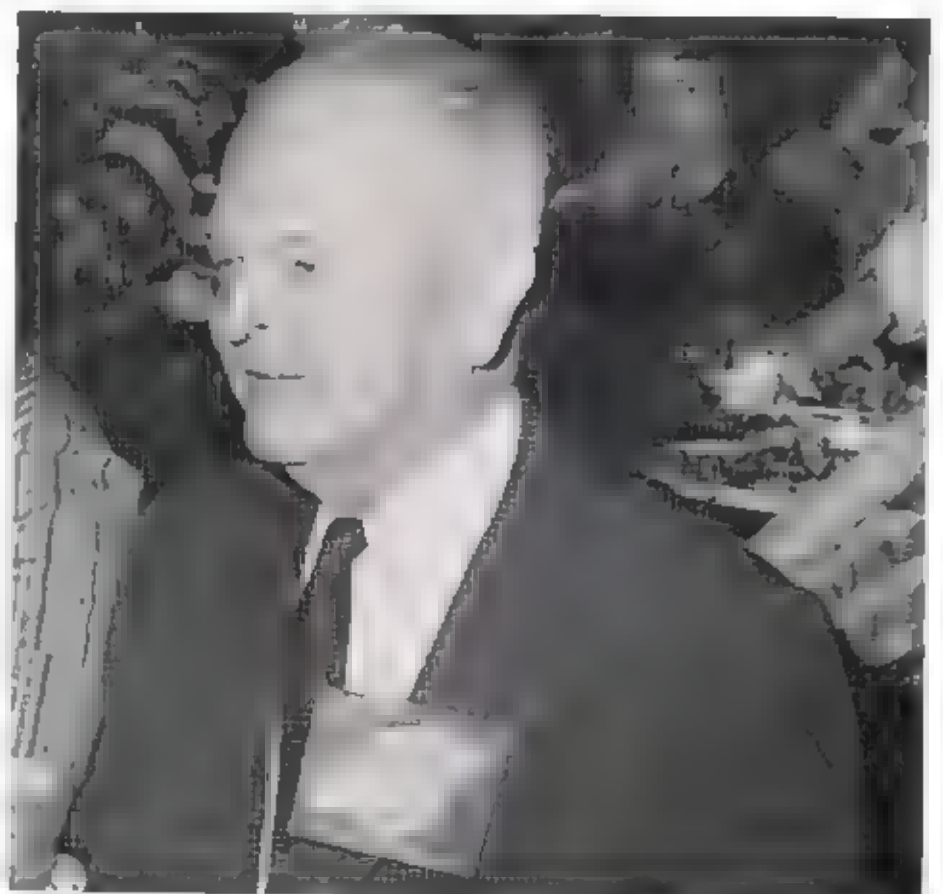

Principal Guides Teachers, Students

During the thirty-one years Ben W. Wiseman has headed the staff of Highland Park High School, many improvements have been made through his efforts.

He emphasizes the importance of good scholastic background and standing by the use of reading machines, individual conferences with teachers, and special help for the student who is not fulfilling his learning capacity to the best of his ability. He also has a hand in the extensive testing program given to the Scots.

The neatly kept yard and artful landscaping of the school grounds result from Mr. Wiseman's belief that a school should be attractive as well as functional. Mr. Wiseman is also responsible for the introduction of the Student Council, Key Club, and departmental divisions. Many other constructive ideas that have become tradition at Hi Park may also be attributed to Mr. Wiseman.

Mr. Wiseman temporarily forgets his busy schedule as principal at the teachers' barbecue.

C. D. BOWLBY
Vice-Principal
Highland Park High School

"May I have your attention, please?" is a phrase often spoken each day by Hi Park's vice-principal, C. D. Bowlby, as he marks the end of first period classes with the morning announcements.

Mr. Bowlby, among the busiest people at Hi Park, has many duties which he must perform daily. His tasks range from the discipline of more than thirteen hundred Scots to keeping track of the room reservations for club meetings and special events. He also takes care of the calendar of school events, supervises attendance, and keeps the school equipment operating properly.

Meetings of the Parent-Teacher Association are held on the third Wednesday of October, November, February, April, and May. The members, the mothers and the teachers of the students, are informed of current happenings at the high school through The Thistle. This bulletin also reports what was done at the last P-TA meeting, and what is going to happen at the next one.

Working hand in hand with the P-TA is the Park Cities Dads' Club. This organization meets monthly for the purpose of furthering the welfare of pupils in the Highland Park-Independent School District. Membership is open to all dads in the district. The money obtained through drives is divided among the schools and is used for purchasing such things as bicycle racks and fans and for building expansion.

Mrs. Rousseau breaks in a new English text.

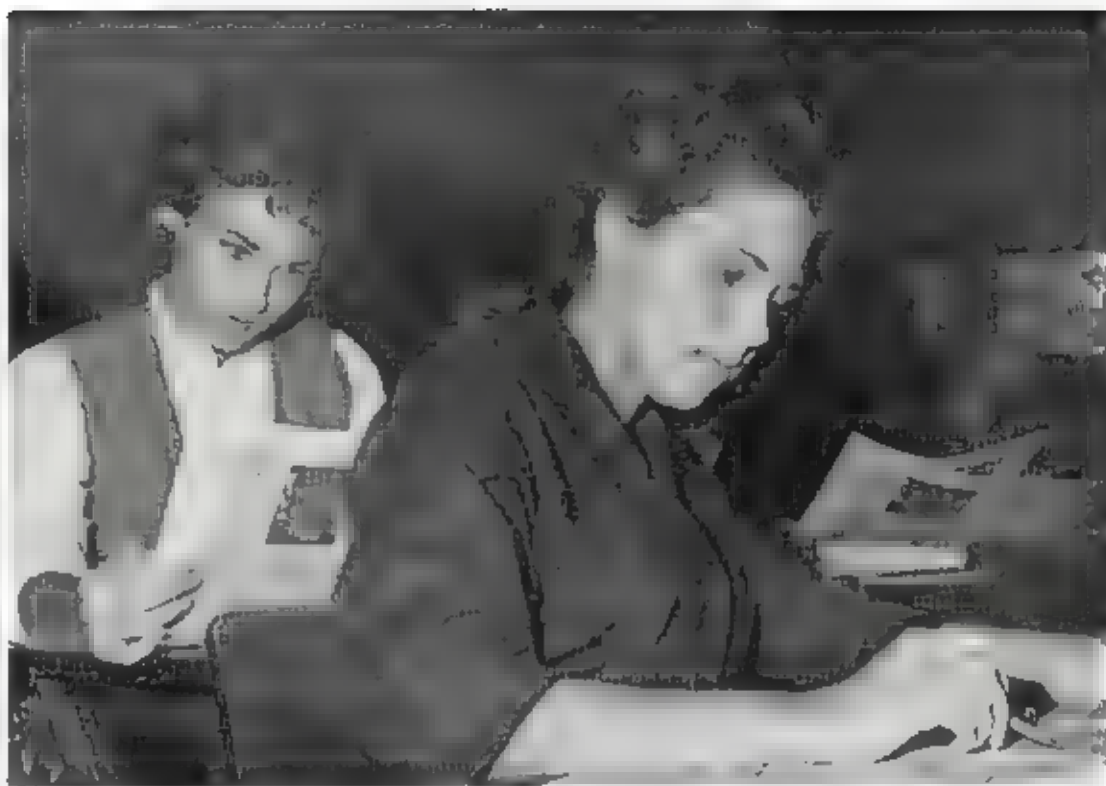

Emphasizing creativity in composition, better use of grammar, and a fuller understanding of literature are only a few of the objectives of the English classes. Sophomores read from selected authors while juniors study American literature, and seniors delve into the works of English writers. Six weeks of grammar are also included in each semester's work of the sophomore and junior classes. The addition of new literature textbooks for all grades has contributed toward making study even more interesting.

For those who wished to develop their skills further, two extra classes were added this year. Special reading-improvement courses were available for those desiring to increase their speed. An advanced course, English 8x, was renewed for high seniors. In this class material is covered more rapidly, and a greater emphasis is put on composition.

Journalism classes study all aspects of newspaper reporting, using the Bagpipe as their guide. The cubs read exchange papers, cover football games, and are trained to write headlines, news stories, and features, and to make up pages.

Overcoming self-consciousness and developing the personality are keynoted in the five speech classes at Hi Park. Theater philosophies, acting techniques, and advanced staging are a few of the things featured in the new Speech 4.

Journalism students Carol Dawson and Vici Colwell check over issues of the Bagpipe.

Four and a Half Years of Math Offered

Sighs of relief and despair are marks of the Hi Park math student as he labors industriously over various types of math problems. A Scot mathematician must complete two years of algebra in which he studies ratio, proportion, arithmetic and geometric progressions, equations, and the quadratic formula. Plane geometry, also a required course, investigates the relations, properties, and measurements of plane surfaces, lines, and angles.

The pupil wishing to further his arithmetical knowledge enrolls in solid geometry and trigonometry. "Solid" stresses the ability to think in a third dimension, while in trig classes identities, inverse functions, complex numbers, equations, logarithmic tables, and the functions of angles are studied.

Math 8x, Hi Park's advanced math course, is open to seniors who have completed "solid" and are enrolled in or have completed trig. It includes a review of high school algebra and advanced topics of college algebra. It gives the student an introduction to calculus and analytic geometry.

Meeting every day during activities period for one semester is a class open to students interested in the use and application of the slide rule.

French student Ann Richmond sighs longingly at one of Mr. Story's air-line posters.

Language Students Study Writings

"Buenos días, señor," "Bonjour, madame," or "Salve, magister" are only a few of the sounds heard daily from the foreign language classes. Three years of French and four years of Latin and Spanish constitute the courses in this department open to Hi Park students. Grammar, vocabulary, and pronunciation are stressed in the first two years, while reading and translation are emphasized in the advanced classes.

French pupils learn about the people and customs of France through regular class work, writing to French pen pals, and reading newspapers and novels.

Analysis of life in Spain, Mexico, South America, and our own Southwest is made by Hi Park "Spaniards." Creating of maps and special projects are also a part of this course. Further interest is added in some of the advanced classes when, after the class completes a story, the tale is dramatized.

Latin scholars read from Caesar, Cicero, Vergil, and other Roman authors. Skits and special programs are presented at meetings of the Latin Club, a group composed of third and fourth year pupils.

Miss Hardin, Mrs. Pipes, and Mr. Jarrett enjoy themselves at the homemaking tea honoring foreign students.

Grasshoppers, leaves, compounds, molecules, heat, and electricity—all compose a part of Hi Park's science department. Biology, chemistry, and physics are the classes offered to Scots.

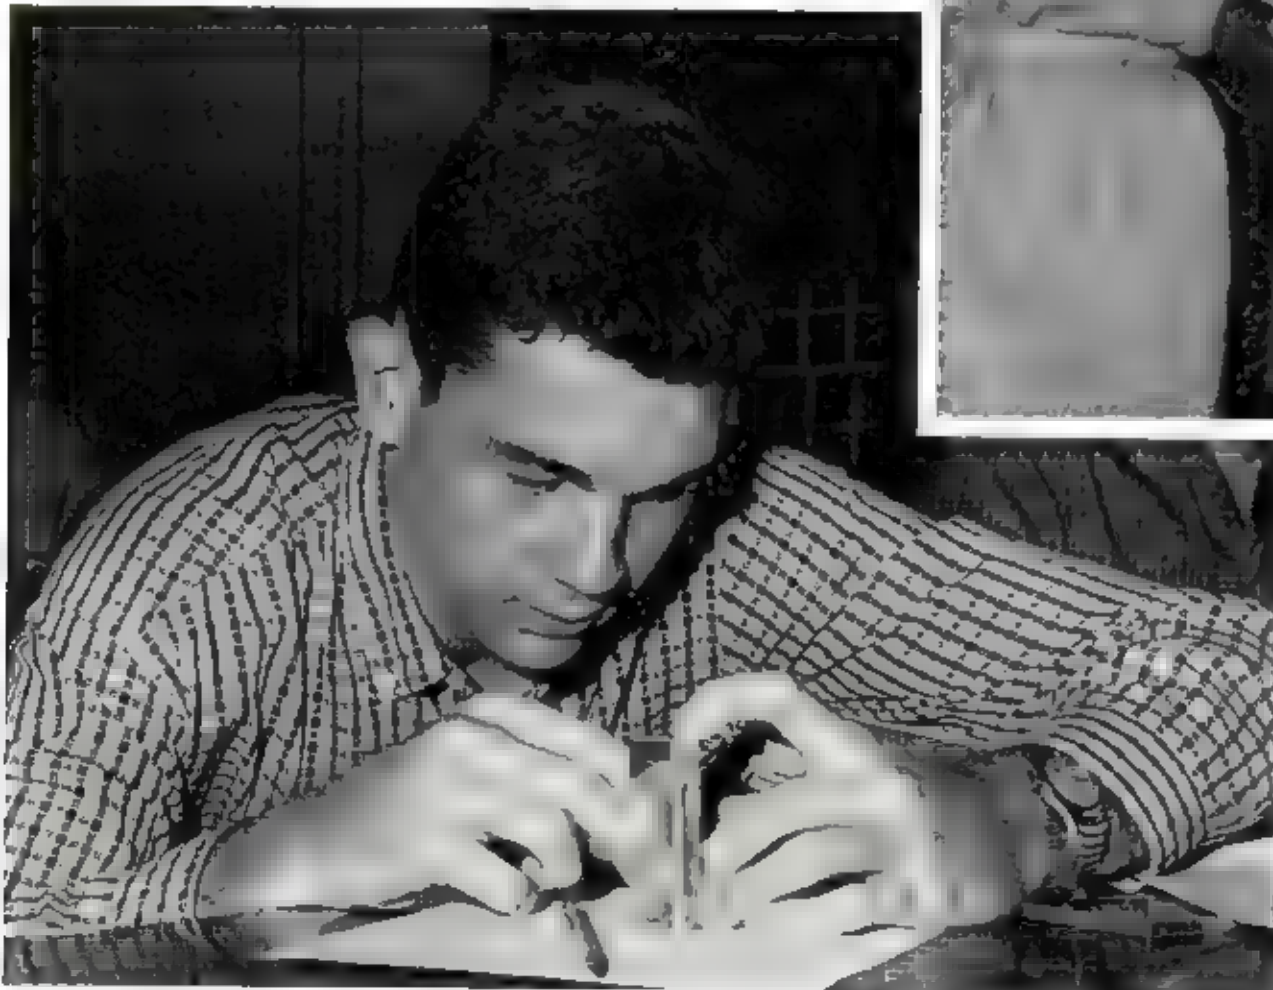

Biology is open to sophomores and juniors; it deals with the fundamental facts and laws of living organisms. Students toting butterfly nets are not an uncommon sight since each pupil is required to make an insect collection in Biology 1. While the first semester concentrates mainly on simple and lower forms of life, the second half encompasses the plant kingdom and the human body and its functions.

Chemistry includes a study of elements, compounds, atoms, molecules, oxidation, and reduction. Lab work is an important part of chemistry as the student conducts his own experiments to test the theories behind various ideas. Some phases of organic chemistry and qualitative analysis are also touched upon.

For Scots considering engineering as a vocation, physics is a "must." Experimenting with mechanics, heat, sound, lights, and electricity constitutes a major portion of the course. Dynamics, gravitation, and radiation are also explored.

Who makes the final decision on the constitutionality of a federal law? The American history classes at Hi Park learn the answer to this and many other questions in their study of the United States Constitution. The political, economic, and social problems of America from the settling of the New World until the present time are scanned by the classes. In addition to the regular course of study, students keep up with current events and make reading reports each week. Each semester brings with it the writing of a term theme. The world history classes study life from prehistoric days to the present time.

The objective of the psychology classes is to provide a means whereby a pupil can better understand himself and his relations with others. They are supplemented by films and lectures by well-known psychologists.

Consumption, production, exchange, distribution and public finance are the five phases of the economic system examined by the economics classes. Included in the course is the comparison of the United States system with those systems of other countries.

Civics, a half-unit course, as is economics, stresses the importance of good citizenship and individual responsibilities. It clarifies civic problems and the actions of the basic governmental offices.

Commercial law, another one-semester course, is concerned with the ways in which law governs the everyday activities of people; and it studies those rules which apply to business transactions.

Tommy Julian is "At ease" during the flag-raising ceremony.

"Up-2-3-4, down-2-3-4-" is a count familiar to both boys and girls of the gym classes as they spend the first few weeks of school exercising rusty muscles. Seasonal sports, tumbling, and weight lifting constitute the boys' activities. Girls participate in speedball, tenniquoits, and basketball the first semester, followed by volleyball, square dancing, badminton, and softball the second half of the year.

Any student at least fifteen years and three months old is eligible to take safety education. This one-semester course encourages skillful, sportsmanlike, and responsible driving. A driver's license is obtained from a member of the Texas Rangers after the pupil has passed both a written and a practical test.

Open to all boys, the Reserve Officers Training Corps, better known as the ROTC, teaches cadets marksmanship, tactics, and the handling of rifles and pistols. Promotions in the corps are based on leadership, academic work, military knowledge, and attendance at Camp Dallas.

Business, Art Pursued by Scots

Stenography takes a lot of practice as Ruthie Lehman demonstrates.

"Clatter, clatter, clatter, clatter . . . bing!" is the noise that is omnipresent in the typing room. Shorthand, elementary accounting, business math, business law, and typing are the courses at Hi Park which prepare a student for a career in business.

To prepare for careers as homemakers, girls may take courses in sewing and cooking. In the homemaking department one learns about fabrics, design, and color as well as food purchasing, meal planning, and nutrition. Phases of home and family life are also studied.

In courses corresponding to homemaking for the girls, the boys at Hi Park are offered wood and metal shops. They study the application of wood finishing, cabinet making, and restoring antiques.

For students musically inclined toward instruments, Hi Park has a band and an orchestra; and for those interested in vocal music there are two special choruses, the Lads and Lassies and the Highlandaires. These groups perform in assemblies throughout the year and many times are presented at programs outside of school.

Artists turn their attention to drawing, painting, and crafts offered in the three years of art courses. These consist of graphic, commercial, display, and stage art. Posters and murals designed by these artists deck the halls of Hi Park.

Serve Principal and College-Bound Students

Aiding the student in everything from term theme-itis to headaches is the duty of Hi Park's counselors, secretaries, librarians, and nurse.

Confused sophomores, juniors, and seniors turn for help to the counselors who advise the student according to his individual needs. Shelves of catalogues and bulletins from many colleges and interviews with representatives are of great assistance to the college-bound Scot.

A haven for those afflicted by research themes and book reports is offered by the library. This year the care of books was emphasized through eye-catching displays and posters. The library is manned by two librarians and student helpers, members of the library council.

Although the most common cure used in the clinic is the aspirin, a registered nurse is on hand to minister to other ailments of the student.

Keeping track of the absent and tardy Scot is the duty of Hi Park's attendance secretary while two secretaries work in the principal's office. Pupils with schedule problems are aided by the registrar.

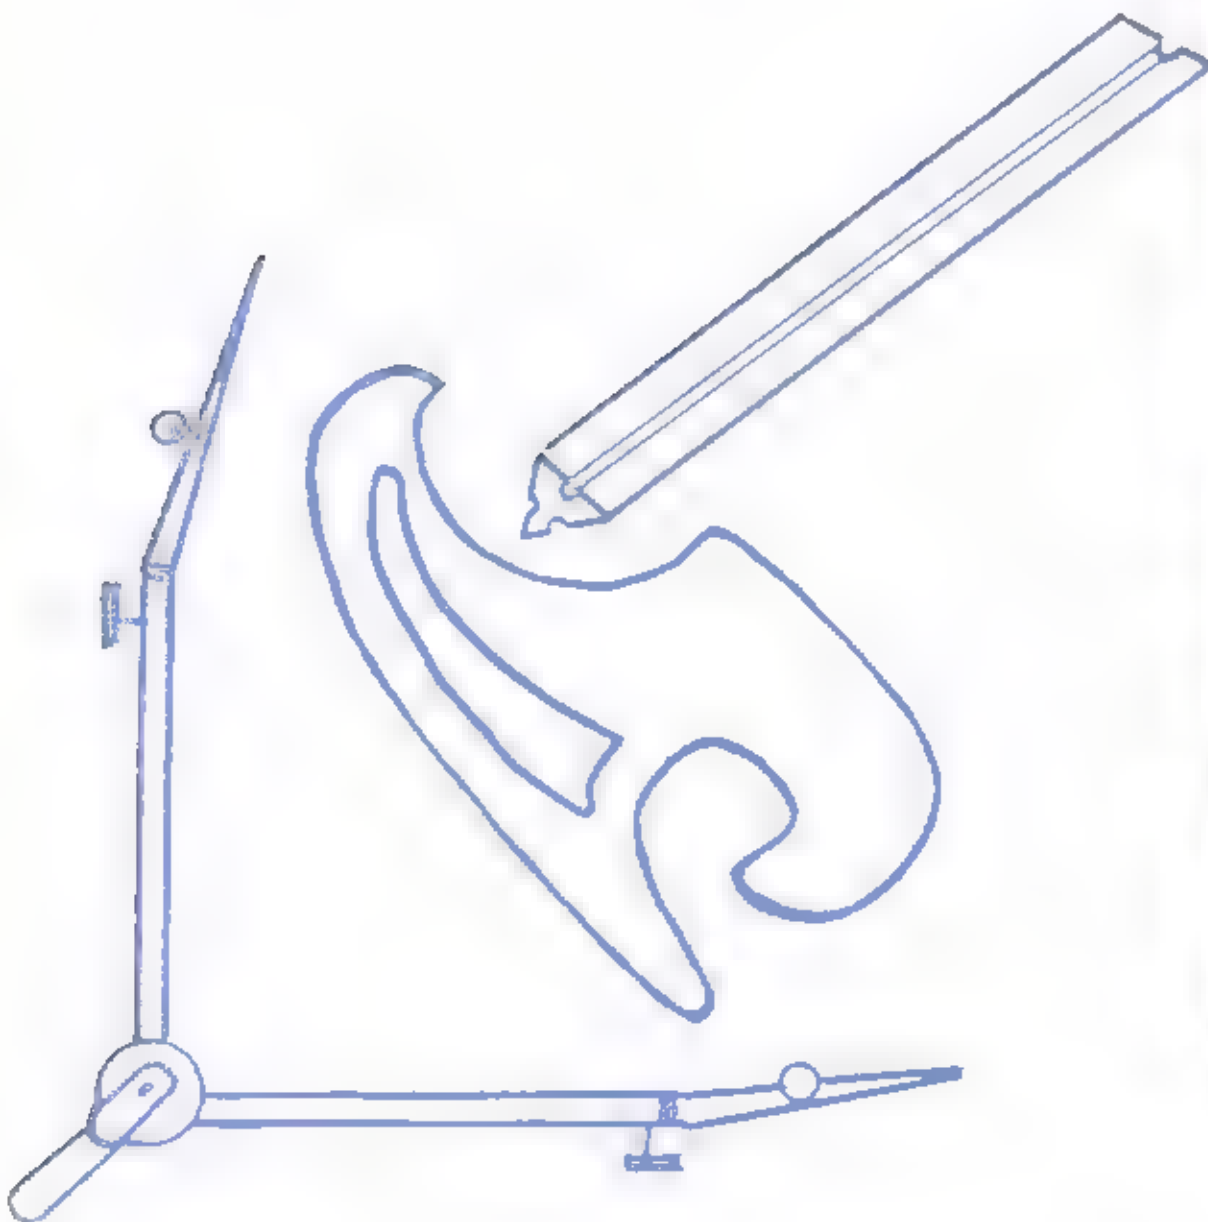

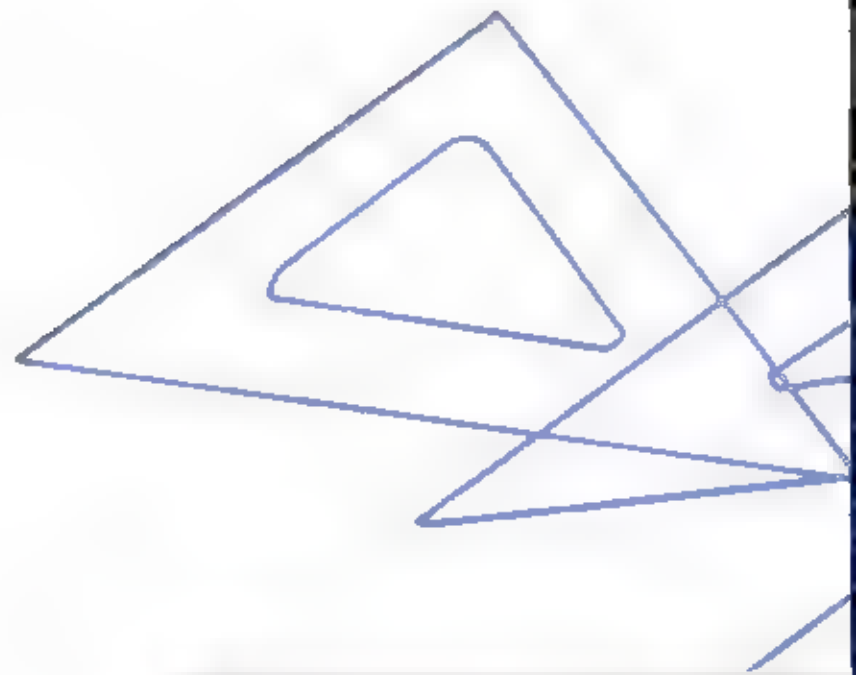

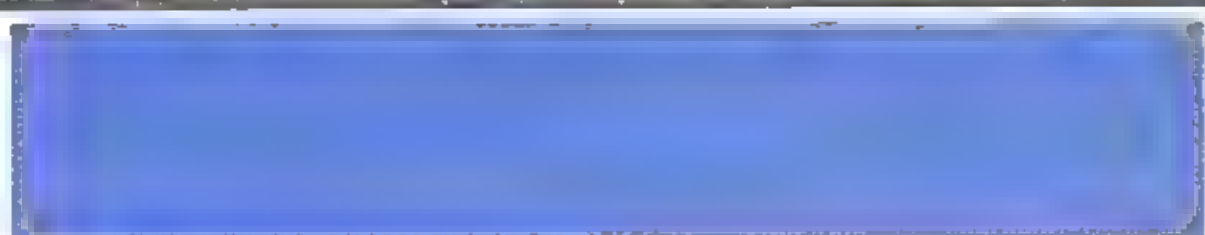

Miss Inmon speaks on today's college requirements at a P-TA meeting.

Many Activities Keep Scots Busy

An important part of education lies outside of the material covered in textbooks. This vital factor is learning to adjust to different people and various situations.

Scots develop socially through association with students and teachers in the classroom and by attendance at events such as assemblies, pep rallies, and dances. Athletic activities, work in organizations, and other mutual interests also afford the student opportunities to meet many people.

Favorite summer pastimes of Betsy Monroe include swinging, sipping, and singing in the shade.

The orientation committee plans for the rush of sophomores.

for Some, Play for Others

Summer, for most Scots, meant sleeping late, relaxation, and warm lazy days under the sun. Some ambitious members of the clan crammed four months of regular school work into two months of summer school or became hard-working job holders. Highlander and Bagpipe ad salesmen pounded the pavement in their search for prospective advertisers while various committees worked hard in planning programs and pep rallies for the coming fall.

Moans and groans were characteristic of the cheerleaders as they spent a week at cheerleading school on the S.M.U. campus. Their aches and pains were rewarded, though, because they placed first four times and second twice in the daily contests. In the over-all contest held on the last day, these spirited Scots placed second. Other industrious Scots attended the Student Council workshop at S.M.U. to exchange ideas with other schools and to work out some of their problems.

As vacation passed, carefree Scots began to think of returning to the halls of Hi Park. The Golden Avalanche prepared for the 1959 football season by spending two grueling weeks at running camp and training sessions. The Student Council made plans for welcoming the invading sophomores, and the school itself received a fresh coat of paint.

Fun Start Again in September

Tanned and rested from three months of summer vacation, Scots once again returned to the halls and classrooms of Hi Park to renew old acquaintances and resume studies.

September brought lots of hard work mixed with fun and football. New members of the clan had their first taste of the school year on Orientation Day held a few days before the actual session began. At this special welcome meeting the new pupils became acquainted with all phases of life at Scot-land through a program presented by upperclassmen and a tour through the building.

The school organizations swung into action with the election of Student Council representatives, the production of the first issue of the paper, The Bagpipe, and the choosing of officers for the various clubs. The band, orchestra, and the choral groups selected and began rehearsal on music for fall programs. Cheerleaders and special committees planned pep rallies and placed posters in all rooms to boost Scot spirit.

Kicking the football season off to a good start with a victory over Thomas Jefferson, the Golden Avalanche remained undefeated the rest of the month.

Although busily engaged in the many phases of school work, Hi Parkers spent two days taking the Iowa Tests of Educational Achievement.

Karen Shea beams happily as she rides on the back of a convertible at halftime.

Homecoming 1960 was highlighted by a Scot victory of 28-0 over Paschal of Fort Worth. Despite threatening weather the Homecoming Queen nominees, Sally Helms, Martha Lou Hester, Betsy Monroe, Karen Shea, and Patty Stephens were driven around the field in convertibles at halftime. These girls were elected by popular vote for the first time this year.

At the dance after the game, the nominees, escorted by their dates, approached the throne, accompanied by notes from their favorite songs. Grier Raggio, president of the Student Council, crowned Karen Shea as Homecoming Queen and presented her with a dozen American Beauty Roses.

During the spring semester of their junior year Scots who wish may take the National Merit Scholarship test. On the basis of the scores of these tests, the National Merit Scholarship Corporation provides scholarships for thousands of students all over the United States. These scores are returned to the school in the fall. Approximately 10,000 top students are named as semi-finalists. This year Highland Park had seventeen semi-finalists.

A second group, totaling some 25,000 students, receive letters of commendation. Eighteen pupils from Highland Park were commended. These students are: Nancy Barron, Steve Bercu, Bobby Blake-ney, Nancy Crist, Dorothy Dalton, Meredith Haltom, Vicky Harte, Pam Hemphill, John Henson, Gene Hickey, True Howard, Nancy Lea, Lee McFadden, Bill May, Spencer Michlin, Dinny Price, Joe Sylvan, and Tommy Wright.

October Spotlights

During October, Scot spirit was heightened by the annual Hi-Park tradition of Color Day, as loyal Scots donned the school colors of blue and gold. Enthusiasm rose to an exciting climax as the football team remained undefeated in district play throughout October.

The second month of school also held many activities for various Hi-Park organizations. Busy Scot musicians performed at the State Fair under the direction of the famous and popular band leader, Mitch Miller. Four representatives from the Student Council were delegates to the Southern Association of Student Councils' convention in Corpus Christi, and Hi-Park journalists attended the Southwest Journalism Forum, which was held at S.M.U. The Lads and Lassies' assembly of sacred music climaxed Religious Emphasis Week, during which a representative of each faith spoke at assembly.

Many clansmen took advantage of the first holiday of the year to attend the 1959 State Fair.

Excitement filled the air in Scot-land in November as the Golden Avalanche rolled over Denton, Sherman, and Denison in District 7-AAAAA playoffs. Obeying the order, "Outwit the Owls," which hung in the gym during the pep rally, the Scots captured the district crown with a 28 to 7 win over Garland. The game started with a roar as a spirit cloud of gold balloons floated high into the air over Highlander Field. A victory dance in the gym followed the game.

On November 6, the clock turned back forty years as the Hi Lites presented a roaring twenties dance. The Senior Trio and the Night Beats supplied entertainment, while Hugh Fowler furnished dance music for the gaily costumed flappers and their dates.

"Let's go, Scots!" yells Gary Love.

Presents "Charley's Aunt"

Rollicking comedy marked the January graduates' senior play. Two college boys, Charley Wykeham (Steve Sharp) and Jack Chesney (Jay Henderson), find themselves involved in an absurd plot of impersonation. To persuade their sweethearts, Amy Spettigue (Frances Terry) and Kitty Verdun (Val Chambers), to come to tea, the boys must promise the presence of Charley's aunt, Donna Lucia d'Alvadorez from Brazil.

Trouble begins when the aunt notifies them that she must postpone her trip for several days. Determined not to break the date with the girls, the boys try to find someone who will pretend to be Charley's aunt.

Although he does not volunteer for the job, Lord Fancourt Babberly (Spencer Michlin) is finally convinced to play the part of the aunt.

All goes well until Ela Delahay (Becky Myer) discloses to the disguised Lord Babberly that she loves him. This, however, is not the only thing that Babberly discovers. He also learns what it is like to be proposed to—twice! Lord Chesney (Les Eubanks) and Stephen Spettigue (Charles Anderson) both find the charms of Charley's aunt irresistible. This confusion becomes worse with the arrival of the real Donna Lucia. In spite of the mess in which the boys find themselves, love finally conquers all; and everything ends well.

Tommy Thorton headed the back stage crew as stage manager while Jeanette Wiltse worked as assistant director.

Les Eubanks finds Charley's aunt very charming.

Holidays

Christmas spirit invaded Hi Park as December closed the era of the fabulous fifties and ushered in a new decade of promising sixties. In spite of the holiday fever that affected almost all the students, many activities were carried on at Hi Park. The Lads and Lassies, assisted by the orchestra and the Highlandaires, staged an outstanding Christmas program which was presented to the P-TA and Dad's Club and later to the student body at an assembly. The band entertained at its annual dance, while the Student Council sponsored its yearly Christmas formal on December 5. The National Honor Society held its fall banquet at the Torch.

Graduation,

Emotions from the highest excitement to the lowest despair were in evidence during January. Returning from Christmas holidays, high seniors gloried in having only two more weeks of school, while the remaining 1,271 Scots became buried under piles of books, homework, and review sheets.

John Bourland and Charles Anderson received top scholastic honors, and Frances Terry and Tommy Thornton accepted the Blanket Awards at the high seniors' Honor Day.

The Golden Avalanche elected tri-captains Andy Small, Red Rutledge, and Danny Thomas to lead the 1960 team. Ellen Kroney was chosen Football Queen at the annual football banquet.

In the midst of all this hubbub came exams. Weeks of hard work and burning the midnight oil would be put to the test. As the fall semester ended, though, most Scots looked back with a feeling of accomplishment. With all the excitement of graduation and exams over, the halls of Highland Park settled down once more to the normal routine of the spring semester.

Snow! This natural phenomenon so seldom seen in Big "D" was welcomed by fun-loving Clansmen as they took a holiday from school to enjoy February's weather.

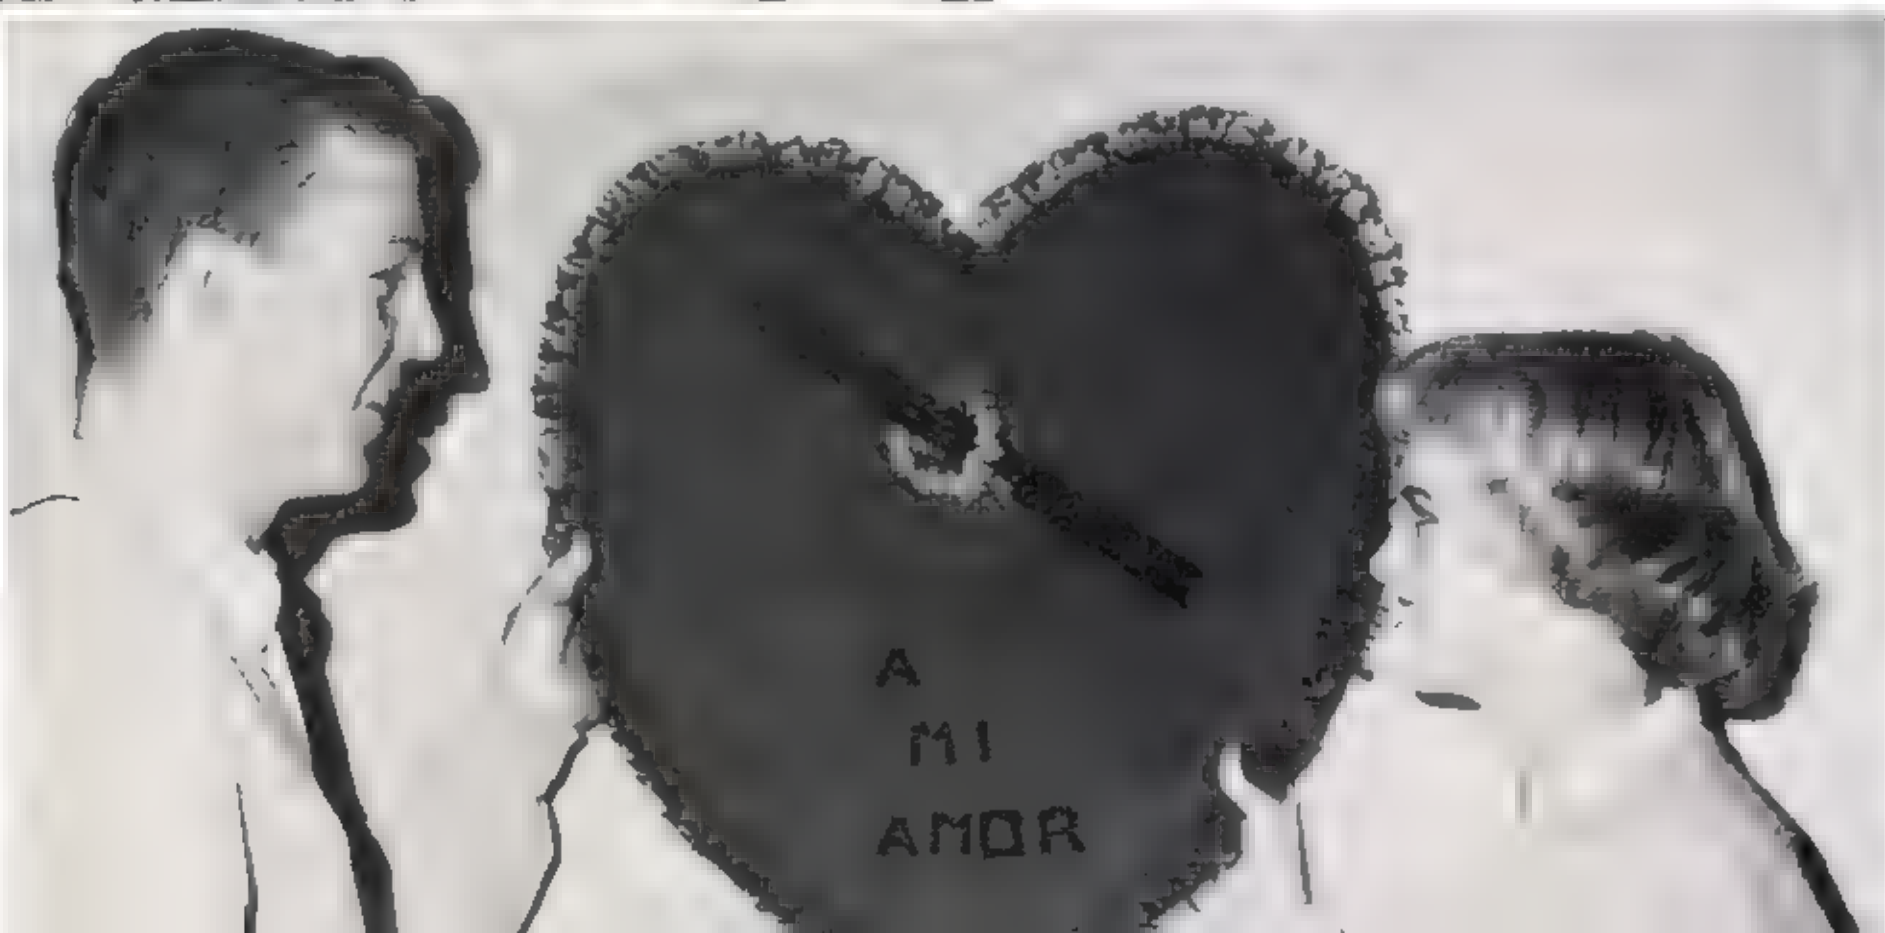

In contrast to the snow, spring sports got off to a good start at Hi Park as the tennis, golf, swimming, baseball, and track teams chalked up many victories.

More scholastic honors were given when the seventeen Scots who were National Merit Scholarship semi-finalists last fall were announced as Merit finalists.

"Who will wear the crown?" debate Tommy Thornton and Kenny Newberry as they decorate for the Homecoming Dance.

"Fie, may a fire-breathing dragon eat him who misuses our library books!" This slogan and many similar ones decorated the Hi Park bulletin boards as the Student Council launched its campaign to promote respect for school property.

Scot spirit was kept at a high peak with the sale of football ribbons and bus caravan tickets. A file of schedule cards for use of students and teachers and the publication of the student directory, "The Clan," were other projects sponsored by the Council. Hi Park's representative body also backs such drives as the Easter seal campaign, March of Dimes, and the Dads' Club membership. For several years the Council has sponsored the support of two French orphans.

Council members, elected each semester from the second period classes, and five members at large, chosen in the spring, constituted this representative body. The group is sponsored by Miss Louise James, Mrs. Katherine Duke, and Miss Eleanor Thornell.

Scholars Set Pace for Leadership

"Torch" has a double meaning for members of the National Honor Society. As well as being the NHS symbol, it also brings to mind the fall banquet held at the Torch restaurant.

Chosen by the faculty on a basis of scholarship, leadership, service, and character, the membership is comprised of 3% of the high junior class, 7% of the low seniors, and 15% of the high senior class.

Included in the NHS program are a fall banquet, spring picnic, and two initiations. Underclassmen members usher at commencement exercises, baccalaureate services, and senior plays. The National Honor Society Achievement Award, better known as the Blanket Award, is presented to the most outstanding girl and boy in each graduating class. Miss Hilda Masters sponsors the Highland Park Chapter of the NHS.

"Truth, loyalty, enlightenment, opportunity, initiative, leadership, and friendship"—as each candle is lit, these ideals are named as the aims of Quill and Scroll, an honorary journalistic society. This candlelight ceremony takes place each fall and spring for the initiation of new members.

To be part of this group, a student must be a junior or senior, be in good standing scholastically, and must have done some outstanding work on one of the publications staffs for one semester.

Besides the regular four meetings a year, the club has a progressive dinner, at which Quill and Scroll charms are presented to the members.

Scots Informed

Production of issues of the Bagpipe, Scots' bi-weekly newspaper, is a never-ending fun-filled circle.

First comes the brain-wracking search for new, clever ideas for the next paper. Up go the assignment sheets and the "fun" begins. Gathering information for stories during lunch hour or passing periods, hurrying frantically to meet a deadline, and correcting and re-checking copy are activities familiar to a Bagpipe staff member.

At last Friday arrives, and with a sigh of relief and a feeling of accomplishment staff members sell the finished Bagpipe to Scots. But Monday is not far away, and the never-ending circle begins anew.

Staff members are chosen from the journalism classes and Bairns, a special course in newspaper writing held each Monday afternoon during the spring semester.

In spite of a close deadline Sally Helms, Tommy Thornton, and Susan Solomon manage to appear calm, cool, and collected.

Key Club Strives Toward Good Citizenship

George Otstott reports on a political debate to his history class.

The "key" to good citizenship is through the study of government—so feel the members of the Key Club. Every other week they meet to further this study by attending lectures, debates, discussions, and viewing films. They keep Scots informed of what they learn by giving reports in study halls and classrooms.

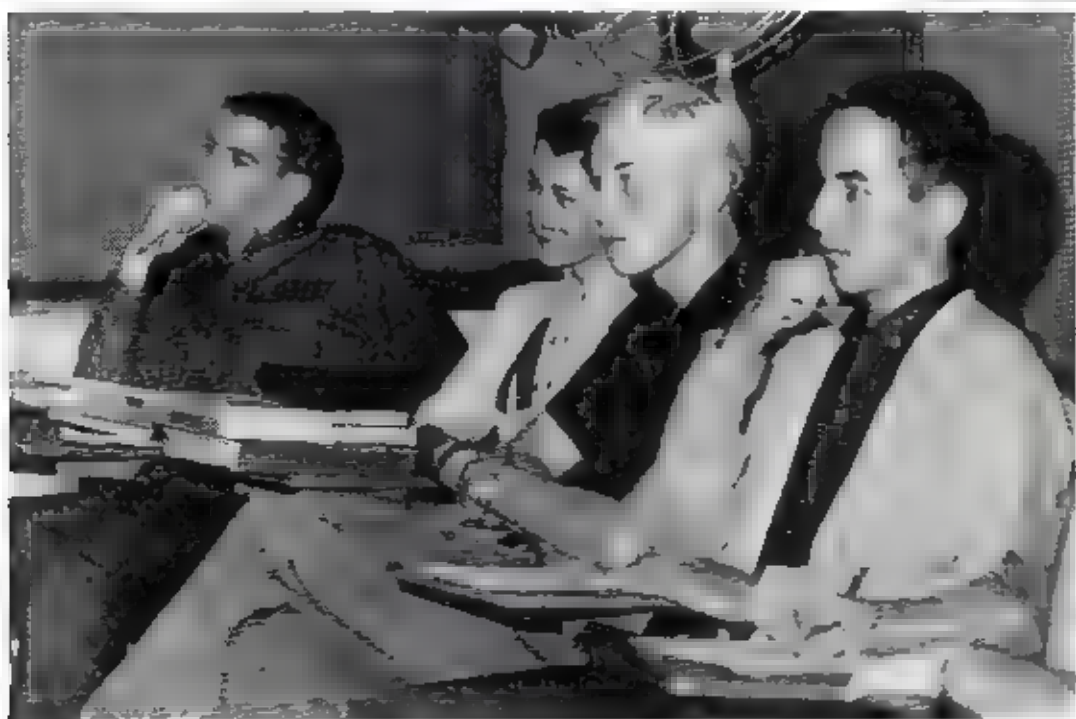

Membership is composed of boys who have been selected by their teachers as outstanding students in the social studies classes. The Key Club, a club of service, is sponsored by Mr. Ralph E. Binnion, and is associated with the Park Cities Kiwanis Club.

Chairman Bill Solomon and Secretary Lucy Meinhardt check over some references.

Bill Blair, Amye Grady, Jochen Witte, and Gordon Wheeler, diligently ponder the subject of the meeting.

"Understanding People," this year's Round Table theme, was the basis for such discussions as "The Effect of Greek and Roman Art on Our Lives Today," "The United Nations' Progress and Goals," and "Foreign Aid."

Hi Park's unique discussion group meets bi-weekly to probe into subjects chosen by the members. The group, sponsored by Miss Helen Moore, also hears guest speakers and views films on related topics.

The twenty-six members, chosen by a faculty committee from written applications, prepare for the meeting with from two to three hours of concentrated research. A balance is maintained between boys and girls, religious faiths, and grade levels to assure interesting and informative meetings.

Tablers pause to socialize at a January banquet and a spring picnic.

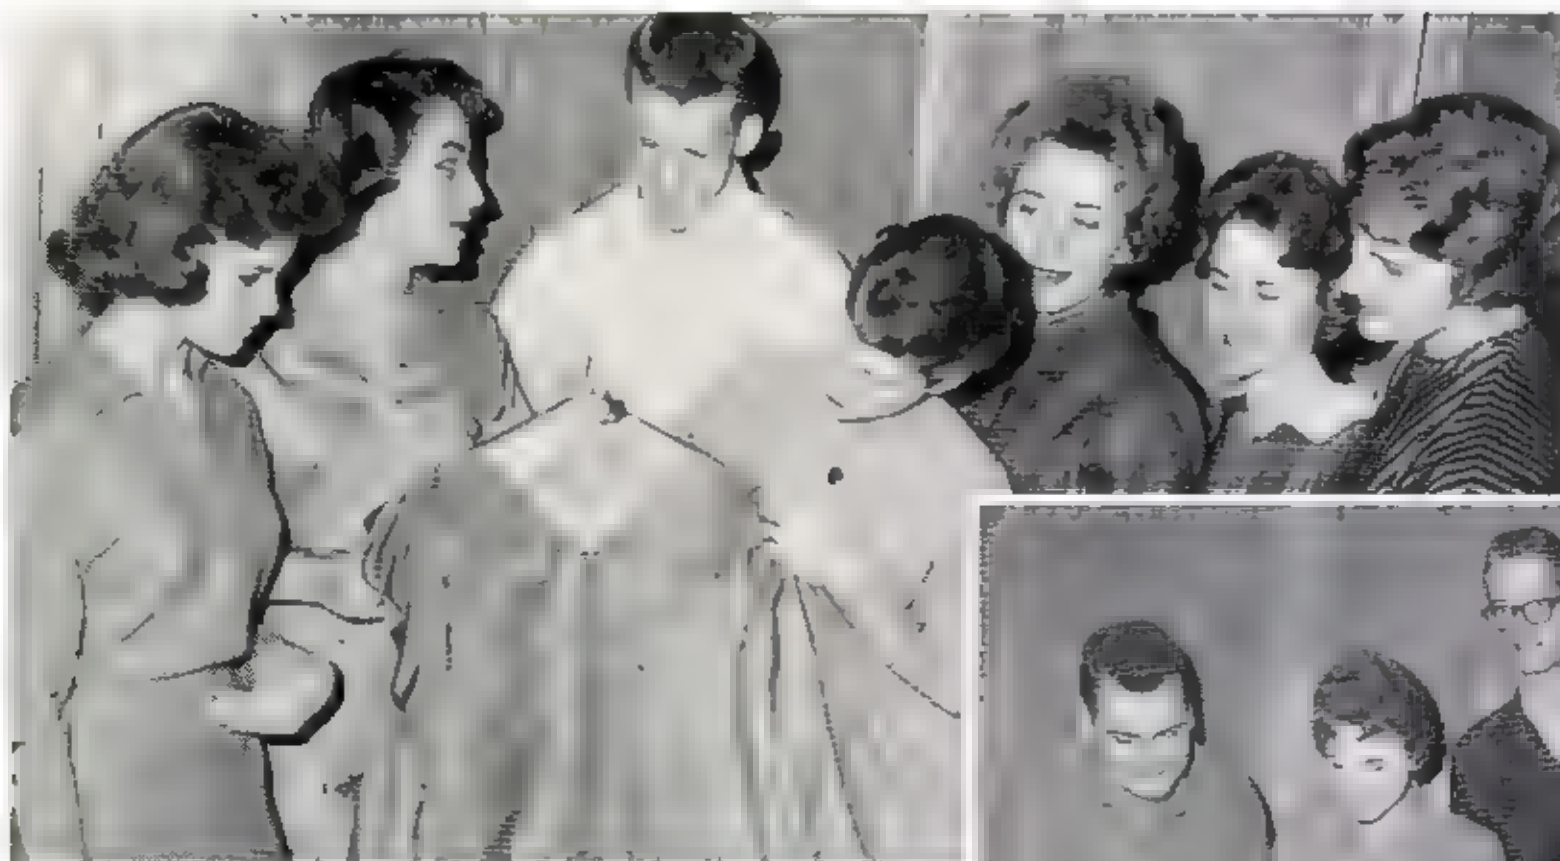

The club was started in 1947 by a group of students who wanted to devote more time to discussion than was available in class. Speech 5, a discussion and debate class, evolved from the Table.

Melodies ranging from Handel's "Messiah" to "Sleigh Ride," with a few scales thrown in, are some of the musical sounds that drift from the door of Room 113 every morning during first period as the Lads and Lassies tune up for one of their many school and civic programs.

Under the leadership of Miss Flora Lee Pope, the seventy members donate much time and energy to performing for such groups as the Lighthouse for the Blind, Salesmanship Club, and Rotary Club. In addition, this year they sang at the opening of the movie, "Ben-Hur."

Highlighting the school performances was the presentation of a Rodgers and Hart Songbook in the spring. A Christmas program and a religious assembly during Religious Emphasis Week also inspired Scots.

Along with their busy work schedule, the singers find time to sell Christmas cards to relatives, friends, and fellow students to raise money, and to attend a fall picnic, a Christmas caroling party, and a spring dinner dance.

Choir members Carmen Wilhite and James Gibson sing a duet for the religious assembly.

Picnics, Parties, Programs Fill Year

Girls, girls, and still more girls, make up Hi-Lites, an organization open to all girls in school. Meeting each Tuesday, Hi-Lites view a variety of programs—anything from combos to style shows.

These lassies enjoy a full social program crowded with the Big-Little Sister Picnic in August, a Mother-Daughter Tea, a fall costume dance, a spring formal dance, and at the end of school, a banquet at which officers for the following year are announced.

Work with the underprivileged children at Wesley Community Center occupies many Saturday mornings for members of the welfare committee. Also, with the help of the Student Council, money is collected for the Red Cross. Hi-Lites join with the Hi-Y in presenting Religious Emphasis Week. Open to all boys in the school, the group meets weekly to hear speakers and view films on educational and entertaining subjects. Backed by the YMCA, the Hi-Y recreation centers around a fall dance, which is planned and organized by the officers and sponsor, George Ruddell.

"Would you like to buy some candy?" This was a familiar question asked Scots during the orchestra's three-week sales campaign. The proceeds were used to finance the social activities of Hi Park's orchestra.

The musicians began their busy year with a concert at the State Fair. Fifteen members of the orchestra were named to the All-State and Texas Music Education Association orchestras. The TMEA convention was held at Austin in February. Besides their regular annual performances at the fall and spring assemblies, the Christmas program, graduation ceremonies, and the spring production, the forty-eight members also played for the Dads' Club, the Lighthouse for the Blind, and the Goodwill Industries.

An outstanding event of the year was the spring tour to play at many Texas colleges. A get-acquainted picnic took place in the fall, and new officers were presented at the spring banquet, which honored the graduates.

Tommy Reynolds, Steve Deck, Jean Edgecomb, and Jane Williamson tune up for extra practice.

Originally organized in 1936, the club received a new charter last year and once again is back in operation. The twenty-six members meet daily before school and once a week during the afternoons to learn theory, code practice, and signals. Often guest speakers show films and give talks on theory.

Part of the club's purpose is to prepare members to obtain their ham radio licenses. Novice licenses are held by ten members, and sponsor L. M. Evans has an advanced class operation license.

Plans for the future include addition of more equipment, a course in electronics, and a card display of contacts made by the members.

Library Council

Librarians Assist Befuddled Scots

Smooth operation and efficient service of the library may be attributed to the approximately thirty students who make up the Library Council.

During the harassing times of term themes and special reports, the Library Council can be a great ally to the befuddled Scot.

Although the Council handles everything in the library from the most technical reference question to creative art work on the bulletin boards, the members also find time for conventions in the far corners of the state. These meetings further the activities of the Teenage Library Association.

Band

Hi Park Musicians Perform in

Drumming up Scot spirit at football games, the Highlander band this year introduced the drum dance—the highland fling done on the top of a drum uplifted by four of the band boys.

Rising early to attend half-time rehearsals, these musicians also fill their time with a busy schedule of pep rallies, concert programs, and preparation for other appearances such as marching in the Fire Prevention Parade.

Adding a dash of bright color in their authentic

Scottish costumes, the Lassies are a special group composed of fourteen girls who play the bagpipes and drums. This year Jane Williamson was featured as the drum dancer.

A Christmas dance, a spring picnic, and two ROTC dances offer relaxation for the members.

Col. Harry Barton directs the group while George Reese serves as commander, and Charles Castles as the executive officer.

Members Volunteer for Hospital Work

Louise Schmidt, president of the Future Nurses' Club, shows a new poster to Diane Davenport, treasurer, Kay Starnes, secretary, and Melinda McBride, vice-president.

"Put your Masterpiece seals in this box."—was the appeal put forth by the members of the Future Nurses' Club, as they launched their project to collect enough of these seals to provide a radio for a ward in the Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children.

A luncheon and a guided tour through Parkland Hospital was enjoyed by the members of the club. They observed the many worthwhile services of a nurse and became aware of the urgent need for more girls to enter the field of nursing. Another highlight of the year was the annual convention of the Texas Future Nurses' Clubs held at Austin in the spring.

The club meets once a month to see films, hear noted speakers in the field of medicine, and to discuss the "pros and cons" of a nursing career. Many club members volunteer as nurses' aides at hospitals.

"Class, your assignment for tomorrow is on the blackboard," — members of the Future Teachers' Club may soon be giving instead of receiving such instruction. The pupils of today who wish to become the teachers of tomorrow make up the membership of this club.

The purpose of the Future Teachers' Club is to present the qualifications, requirements, advantages, and disadvantages of the teaching profession. Guest speakers, films, and discussions provide information for the club, which meets once every six weeks. Miss Hortense Watkins is sponsor of the group.

One of the outstanding programs of the year was a panel discussion given by practice teachers from Southern Methodist University. The panel impressed the future teachers with the challenge and fun of a teaching career.

Which one is the teacher? Miss Watkins, sponsor, watches Diane Thomas, president, give a sample of her teaching ability.

Art Club

Artists Visit Museums, Design Sets

Rusty Mitchell and Malinda Massie spray a branch for the Christmas assembly.

From impressionists to moderns and surrealists—the Art Club runs the gamut of artistic styles on its many trips to various art museums around Dallas, acquiring aching feet and an appetite for food as well as culture. Art Club members agree that the logical finale for a museum trip is dinner at a restaurant.

The club, made up of students interested in art, meets weekly to work on decorations for school dances and group and individual projects. This year, under the sponsorship of Miss Mattie Childress, they had charge of the library displays and made all the exhibits for the Inter-school Library Meet which was held at Hi Park during the fall. They also designed sets for the Christmas assembly, operetta, and decorated the display windows in school.

tourists journey to such places as Russia, Hawaii, and France via films and talks.

Bringing Christmas to a needy family and an Easter project fill the welfare program of the clubs. Both clubs meet one Friday each month and are sponsored by Miss Dorothy Brocksmith.

Highlander

1959 Highlander Receives All-American

Writing copy and captions, taking pictures, and meeting deadlines are just a few of the many duties of the staff members who help make the Highlander a success.

The staff is selected by the sponsor, Miss Diane Cook, and the editor on the basis of grades, teachers' recommendations, capability and dependability.

Delegates attended the Texas High School Press Association Convention at Denton in the fall. At this convention the 1959 Highlander received first place in Texas in its class. Last year's annual was also awarded the titles of All-American by the National Press Association, and first place by the Columbia Press Association. Several individual Scots gained top honors. George Olstott was elected president of the group.

A trip through Taylor Publishing Company provided members of the staff with first-hand information on the process of printing a yearbook.

The Highlander and Bagpipe staffs enjoyed a joint Christmas party and spring picnic.

Miss Louise James

School Pays Tribute to Memory of Teacher

With the sudden death of Miss Louise James, those who knew and loved her suffered a great loss.

As a Student Council sponsor, Miss James was the foundation block and guiding light of the Hi Park Student Council. It was her vast experience and seemingly limitless knowledge that made Hi Park's student councils successful service organizations for 17 years. Miss James was recognized over all the state as an outstanding council advisor.

Service was the byword of her life. She was one of the organizers of the State Association of Student Councils and a member of the executive committee. Miss James served also as director of the SMU Student Council Workshop for four years. At Hi Park, as well as throughout the state, her name has become synonymous with student council.

As a teacher at Hi Park Miss James was a success. If it is true that a teacher does not feel herself to be a success until her students have gone into the world to put into practice what she has taught them, Miss James could be justifiably proud. Through her many years of teaching she has had a profound influence upon her students.

It has been said that not all of the darkness in the world can put out the light of a single candle, and so we say that in years to come the spirit and life of Miss Louise James will remain in the hearts of her students and fellow faculty members and in the halls of Hi Park.

Four Companies, Drill Team

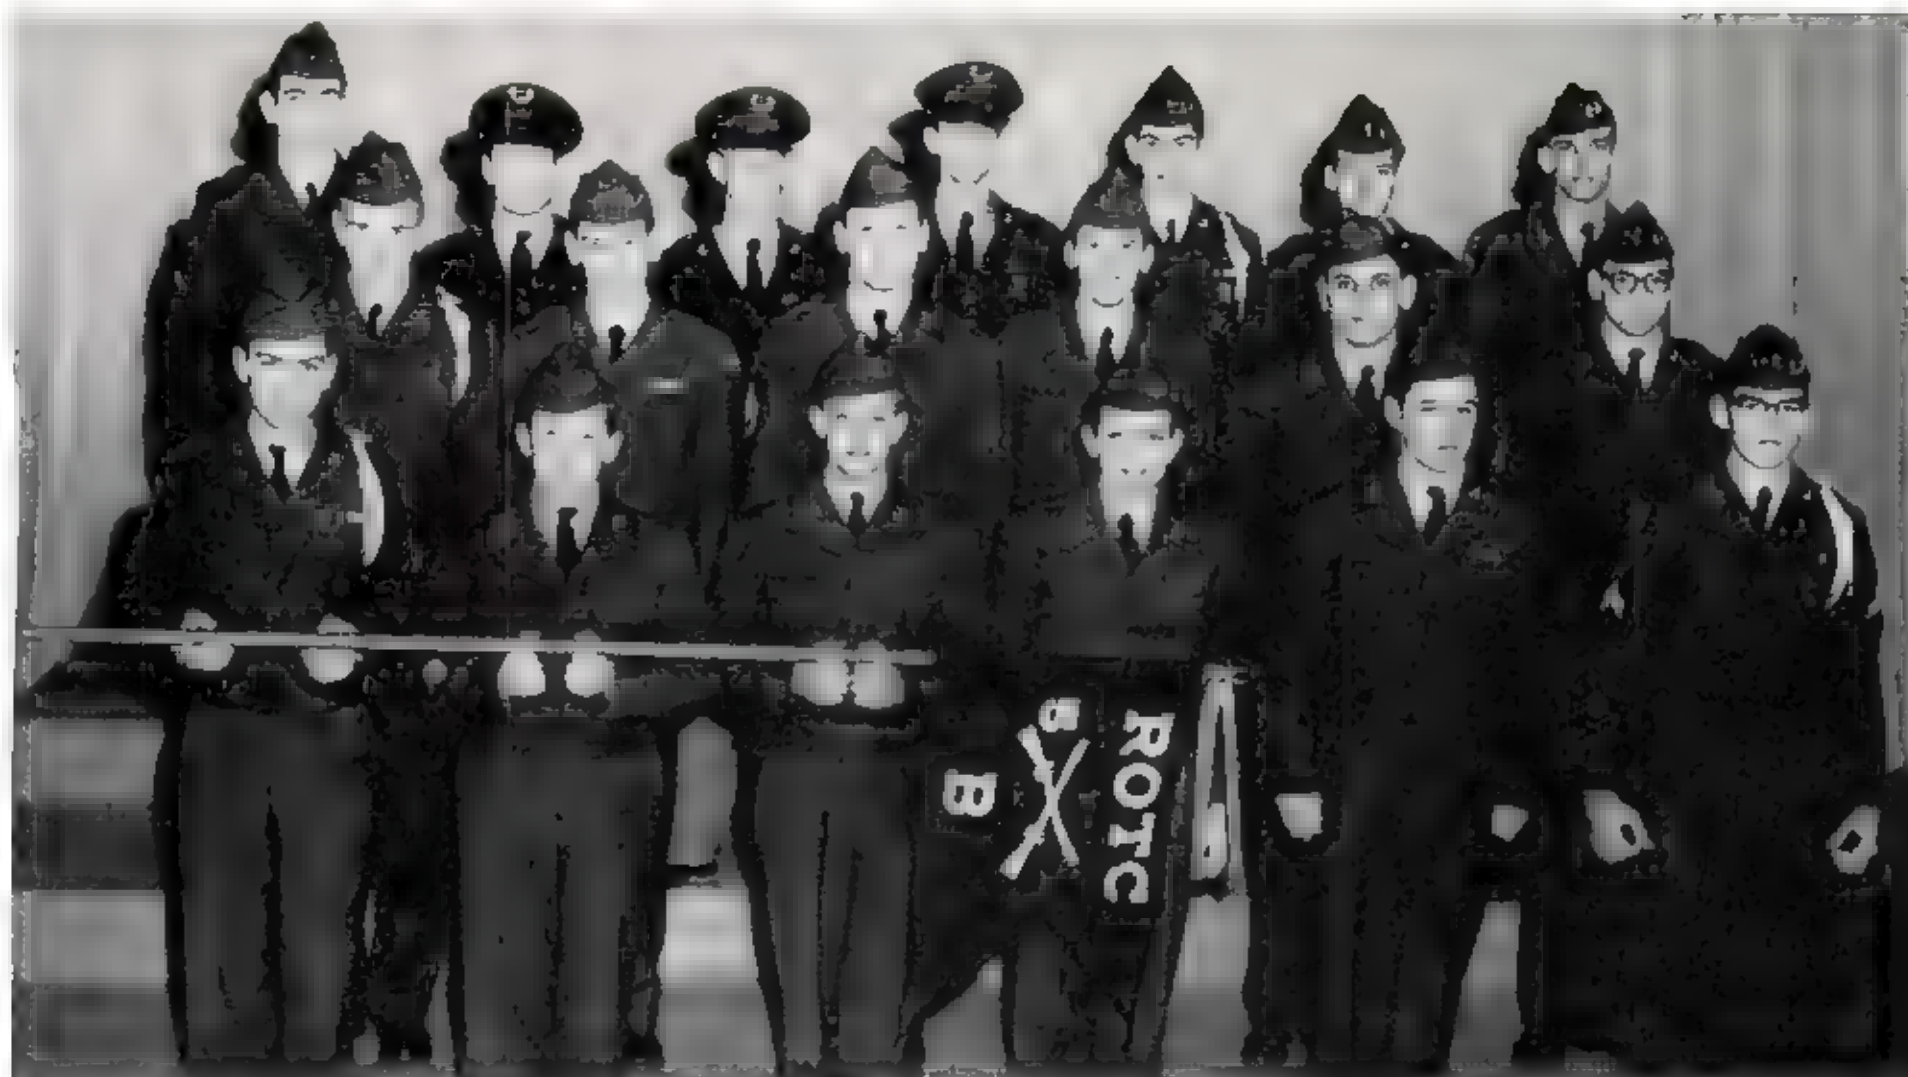

Laying a foundation for citizenship within a cadet and giving him basic military training is the first aim of the Hi Park Reserve Officers Training Corps. The ROTC strives to instill in a student habits of orderliness and precision as well as discipline and respect for constitutional authority, thereby developing patriotism and a greater sense of personal deportment.

The four companies, headed by the Cadet Regimental Staff, meet in the armory, where practical instruction is stressed. Drilling, marksmanship, care of weapons, and visual-aid training are offered as part of the ROTC program.

The Regimental Ball, which is presented bi-annually, is the important social occasion of the year. At this ball the band, company, Drill Team, and Rifle Team queens are presented and a Regimental Queen is crowned.

These various activities of the ROTC are headed by Comdr. Hightower, USNR; Col. N. F. Casey, T.S.G.R.; S.F.C. Retta; U.S. Army; and M/Sgt L. D. Stringfield, U.S. Army.

Within the ROTC are two special organizations, the Rifle Team and the Grenadier Guards, better known as the Drill Team. Under the direction of S.F.C. John Retta, U.S. Army, the Drill Team performs in competition with other schools and in an exhibition during federal inspection. The most important event is serving as honor guard for the company queens at the Regimental Balls. Appearance, leadership, and ability to drill and exercise commands are considered when members are selected for the Drill Team.

Competing in local, state, and national matches is the job of the ROTC Rifle Team. Besides having outstanding skill with a rifle, the team members are chosen for appearance and ability within the corps.

For the boys who have kept a high average throughout the year, letter jackets are presented at the end of school.

The Rifle Team, whose members are known as the "crack-shots" of Hi Park, is under the direction of M/Sgt. Stringfield, U.S. Army.

Competition Boosts School Spirit

Enabling Hi Park students to grow physically as well as mentally are the many athletic activities open to all Scots.

Boys participate in inter-school competition while the girls contend among themselves in an extensive intramural program.

Those who do not take an active part in athletics increase school spirit through their enthusiastic support as spectators.

Go, Scots—the cheerleaders perform one of their many spirit-boosting yells.

Cheerleaders Spark Pep at Games, Rallies

Part athlete, part acrobat, part dancer—all these qualities plus an extra added spark of enthusiasm are necessary to make a cheerleader representative of the student body. Hi Park's own six began their career of leading yells by attending a cheerleading workshop during the summer at S.M.U. A little sore at first from aching muscles, this peppy squad distinguished itself by placing first four times and second twice in daily contests.

Planning the general program for pep rallies, bonfires, and special after-school rallies fell under their duties. Bolstering spirit at football, basketball, and baseball games rounded out the cheerleaders' schedule.

Combining a quick backfield and a rugged defense, Hi Park's Scots battled their way into the quarter-finals of the state play-offs. Red Rutledge, who took over the position of head coach last spring, guided the Golden Avalanche to a 10-2 season record.

The Blue and Gold kicked off the 1959 season by demolishing the hapless Thomas Jefferson Rebels, 34-0. Quarterback John Bourland scored one touchdown and threw two T.D. passes to All-State Billy Gannon.

The fired-up Gophers of Grand Prairie fell before the Avalanche with a score of 29-12. Although the Gophers led 6-0 at the end of the first quarter, the Scots roared back with fullback David Howells leading the victorious charge.

Alert Red Rutledge pounces on the loose pigskin as Billy Gannon hits the Carter-Riverside ball carrier.

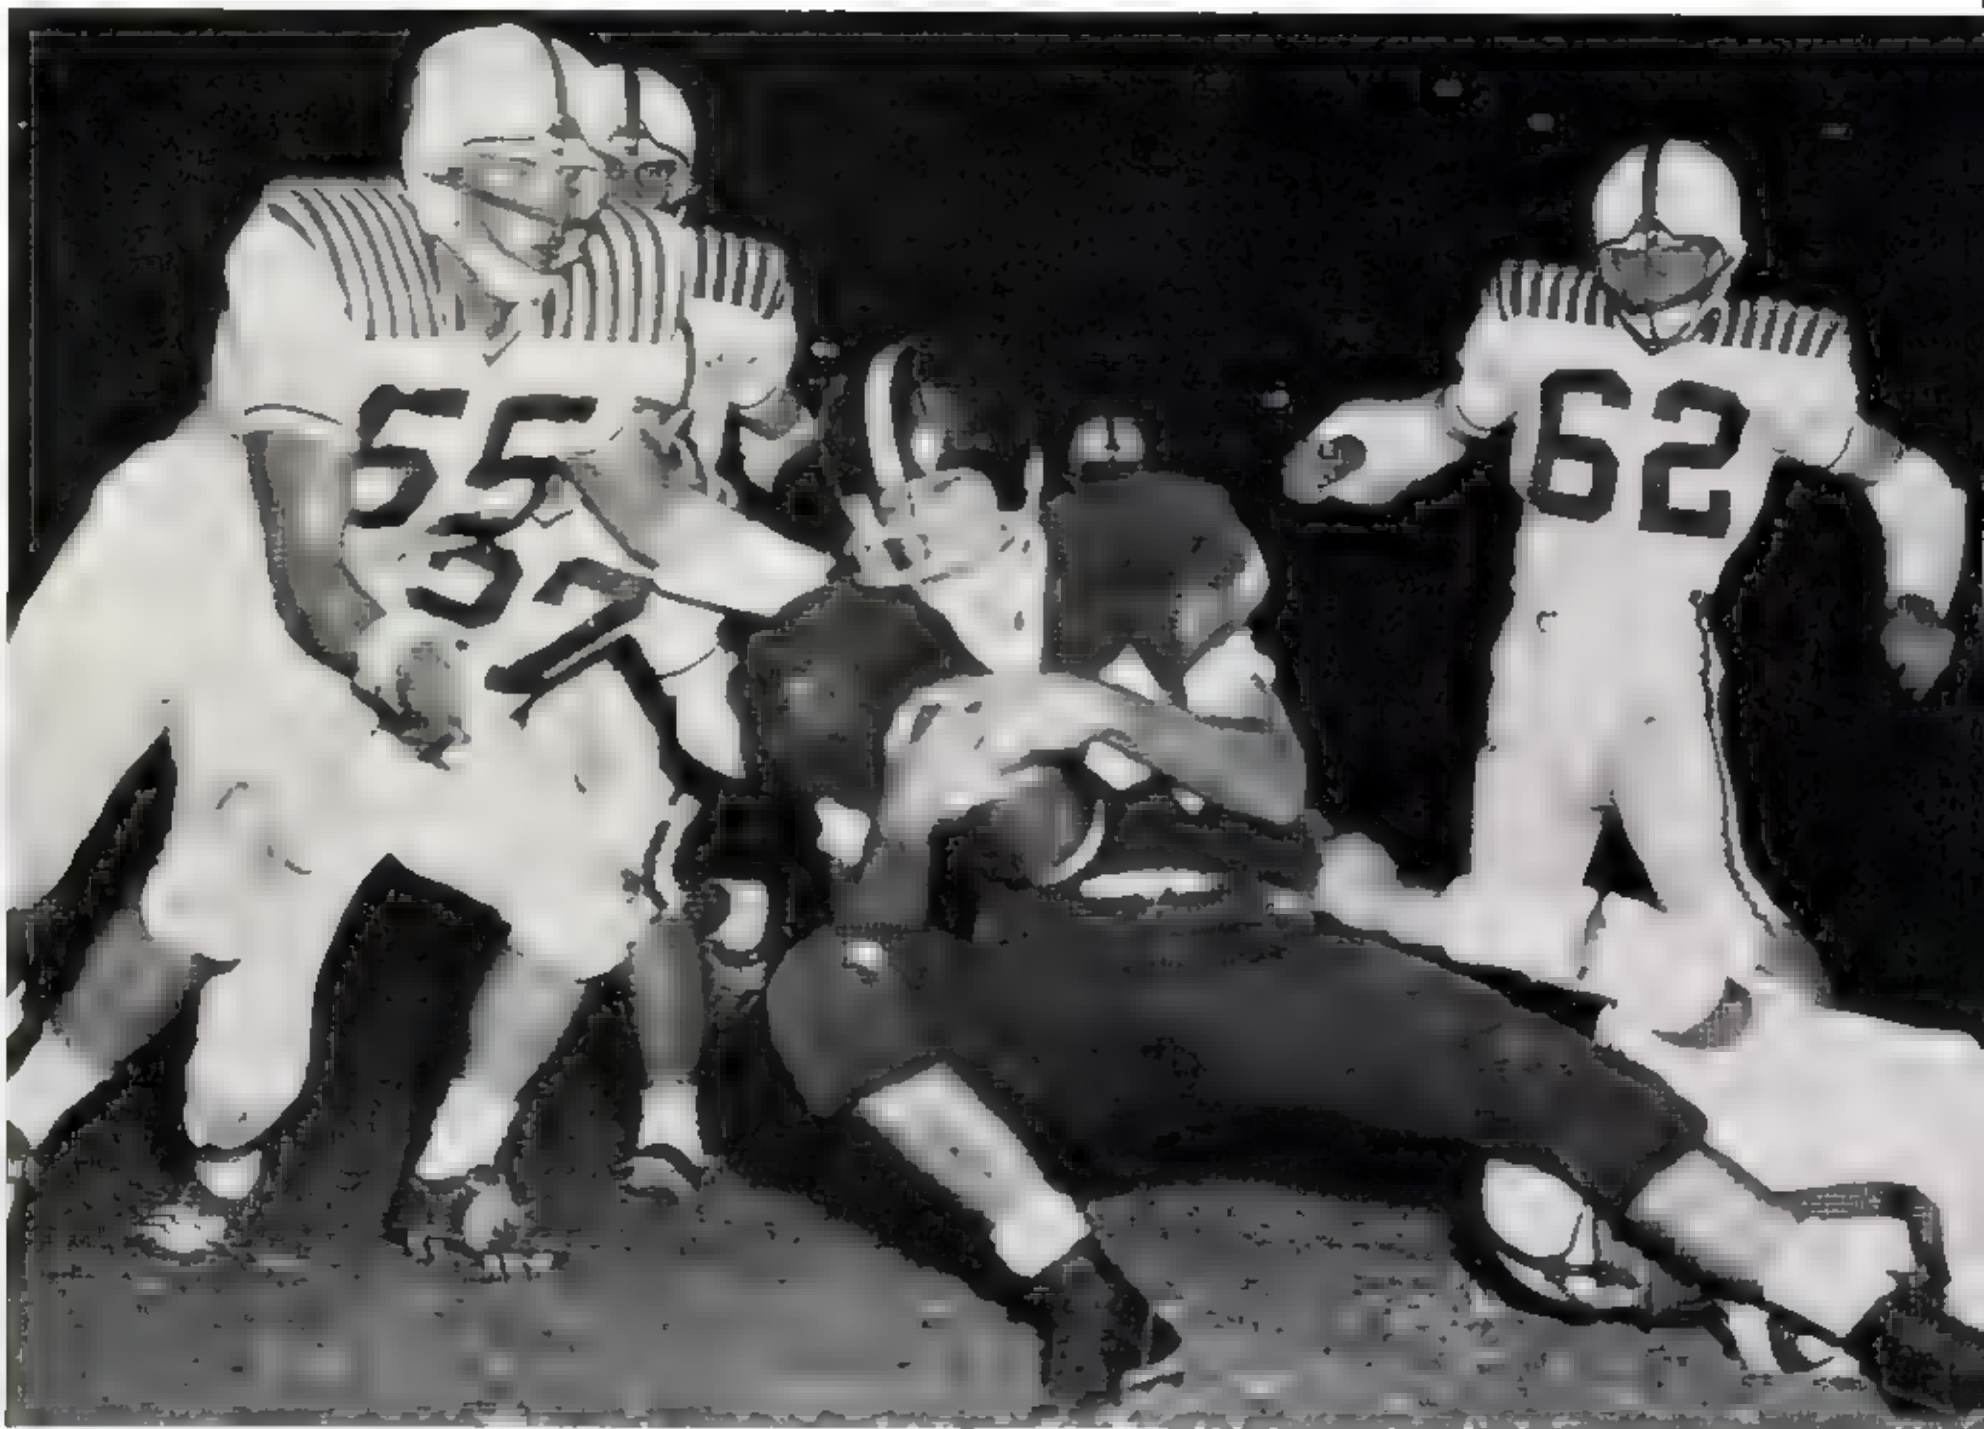

two and a half minutes, Gannon sprinted 75 yards to break a 14-14 deadlock with the Tigers by a tally of 20-14.

Arlington Heights was the next victim of the Scots' ax, toppling 27-6. Jerry Sides's 97-yard touchdown scamper with an intercepted pass was a big factor in breaking the Yellow Jackets' back.

Crown

Coach Rutledge offers advice to John Bourland in the 34-0 rout of the Thomas Jefferson Rebels.

With the tough Highlander defense led by Don McCann and sophomore Randy Weiser, the Clansmen humbled Paschal's Panthers 35-0. The Hi-Parkers journeyed to Corpus Christi, where they suffered their first loss, 32-0, and tumbled to the eventually unbeaten state champs.

In the first District 7-AAAA encounter the Clan plastered Denton, 41-12. The following week Sherman threw a Halloween scare into the Blue and Gold, but the hosts once again emerged victorious, 22-0.

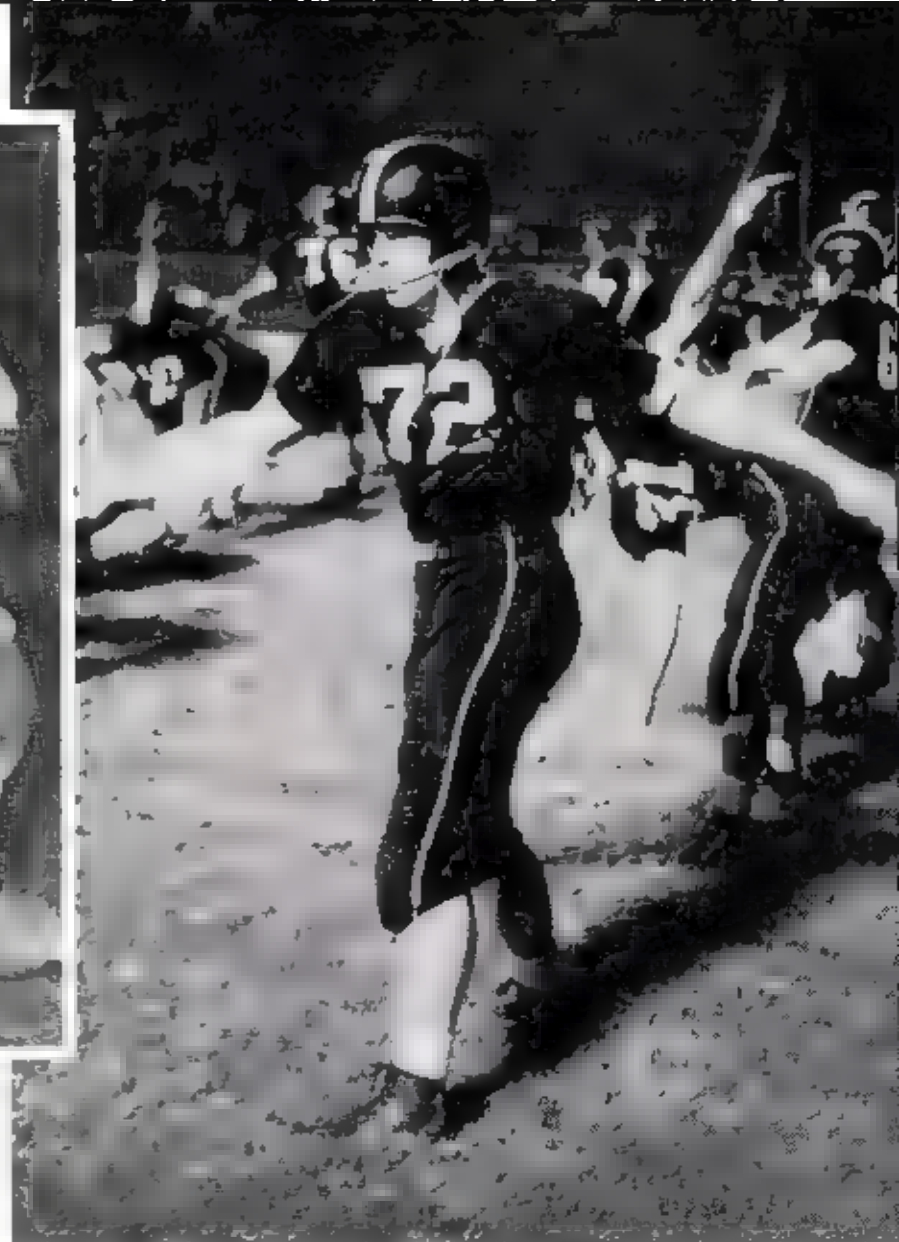

The team took a rest from their busy football schedule and used the open week to gain more practice for the coming district and state playoff games.

As freezing temperatures prevailed, Highland Park gave the Denison Yellow Jackets the cold shoulder and chilled them 32-0. Sides tallied twice; Gannon, Bourland, and sophomore John Roderick racked up one apiece.

Meeting at Highlander Stadium to vie for the district crown, the Golden Avalanche ripped through the Garland Owls, 28-7. On the second play that the Scots owned the ball, Co-Captain Gannon cruised 60 yards untouched for the score and later returned an Owl punt 85 yards for a second tally. Bourland and end Mike Fussell chalked up six points apiece. Red Rutledge, Co-Captain Paul Kennedy, Bobby Boyer, Weiser, and McCann provided a strong defensive wall through which the challengers were able to break only once.

With the district championship under their belts, the Scotsmen began their journey up the ladder toward the state championship. The first foe, in bi-district action, was Tyler, but the highly regarded Lions were crushed by the visiting Scots, 41-6. Gannon led the T.D. parade with two; Sides, Tommy Thornton, Danny Thomas, and Rusty Williams followed close behind with one apiece.

Fort Worth Carter-Riverside invaded Scotland and ended Hi Park's climb toward the crown, 6-0. Having suffered three costly injuries the previous week in their match with Tyler, the Scots could not penetrate into the Eagle end zone.

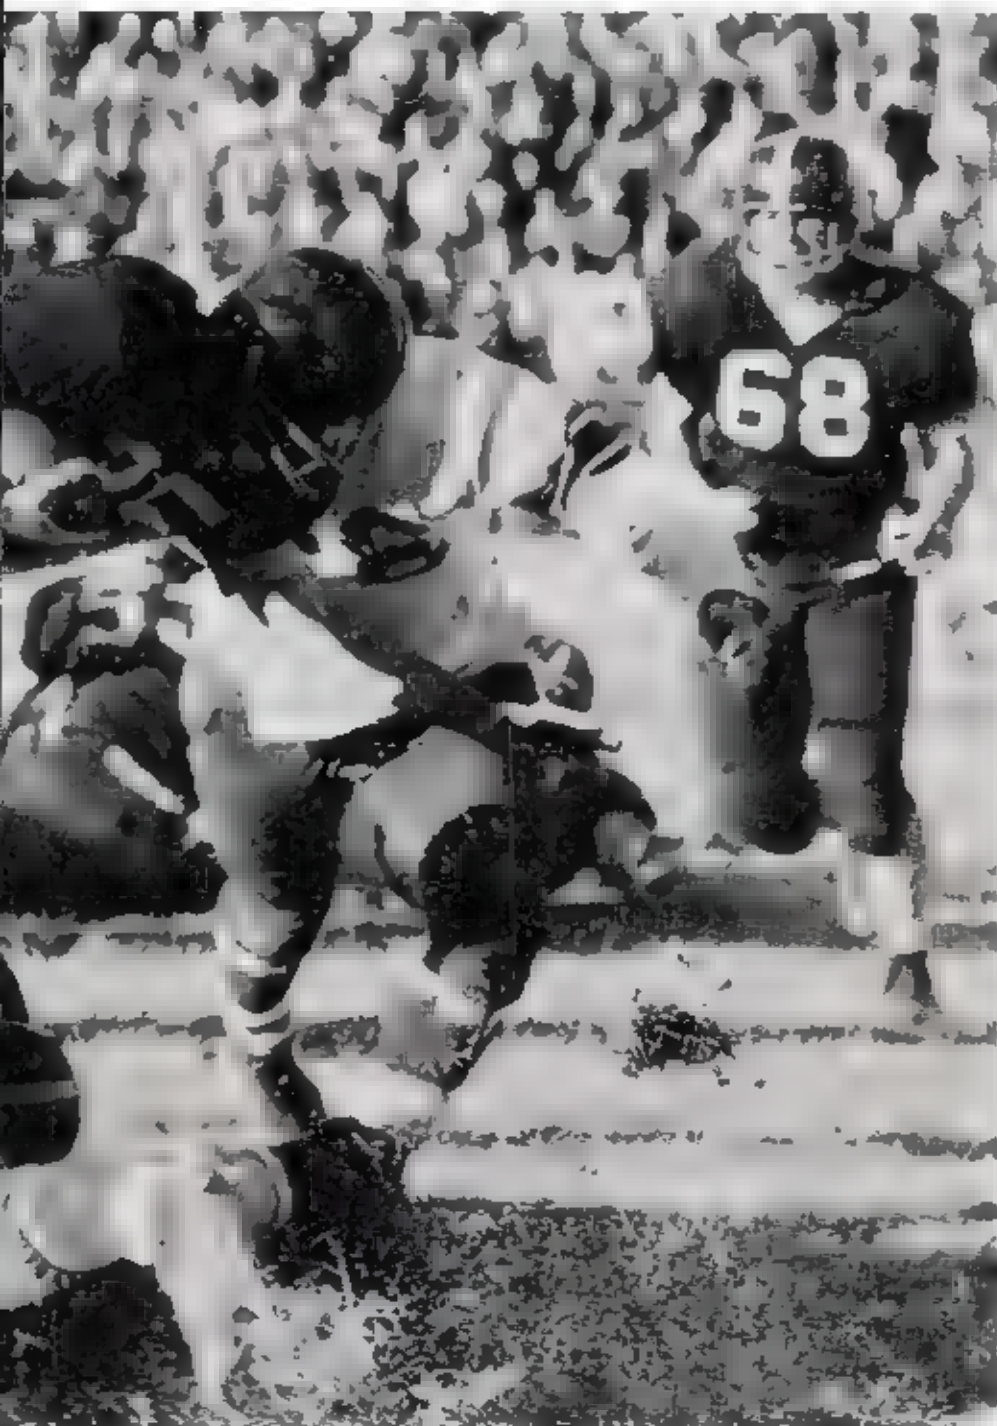

The squad, coaches, and enthusiastic fans were responsible for the fine record of the team. Selling of ribbons and caravan tickets and the presenting of pep rallies each week preceding a game kept Scot spirit at a high peak. Special projects, such as color day and the spirit cloud at the Garland game gave the team added encouragement.

Highlights of the season were presented and new captains announced at the football banquet, which was held in January. Lettermen also received their jackets near the end of January.

Pre-district Scot round ball play showed promise of a strong team. The cagers toppled Waxahachie and Temple in their first two games, but met a pitfall in the Highland road in the form of an experienced pack of Hillcrest Panthers who handed the Clan their worst defeat of the season, 72 to 52. The Scots went on to beat Northside of Fort Worth but dropped one to Thomas Jefferson.

At Austin the Blue-and-Gold played one of their finest games in handing the eventual state runner-up, Austin High of Austin, a five-point defeat, only to reverse the situation and play one of their worst games in dropping a heart-sickening one-pointer to Ball High of Galveston on the following morning. That night the boys from Highland Park slipped Edison of San Antonio a loser's ticket largely due to the fast breaking lay-ups of Jack Davis, as Ball went on to win the crown.

Back home again the Scots began the Dr Pepper Tournament by defeating Grand Prairie, then, proceeded to whip Sunset in an overtime period with the aid of the clutch shooting of Ronnie Siler. But the third game proved to be the last for the cagers as the city-champion-to-be South Oak Cliff eliminated the hustling Blue-and-Gold from the race. One more game before district the Scots dropped to Thomas Jefferson in spite of the valiant hustling of an inspired Troy Quigley, who helped out with a tremendous comeback in the final minutes. The Scots were the owners of a promising but shaky 7-5 pre-district won-lost record.

Cagers Finish Season

The Scots' losing streak which began with South Oak Cliff carried over into the first two games of district play. An overflow crowd in the Denton gym witnessed one of the most exciting games and some of the finest basketball of the season. Although the Highlanders outscored the Broncos from the floor, a rash of fouls gave a nine-point margin to Denton in the final seconds. A moral victory resulted from the game, however. Scot big men Mack Turner (6' 7") and Carey Brooks (6' 4") alternating on Denton's Dan Smith (6' 6"), who was averaging 26 points per game, managed to hold him to a total of four points from the floor.

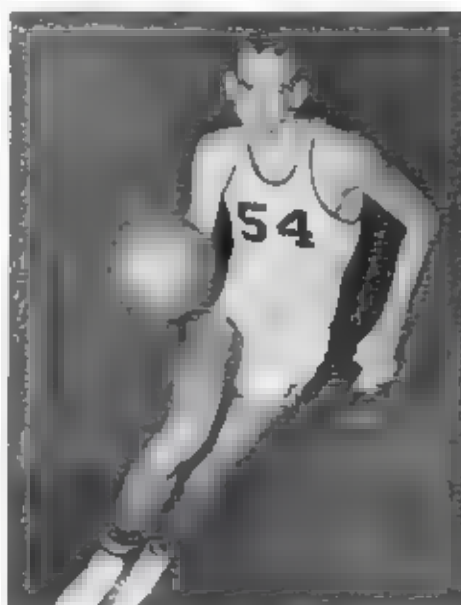

The big question at Garland was whether the man was fouled before the game ended or after. A screaming crowd had made it impossible for the officials to hear the buzzer, but the timer gave the decision to Garland, who proceeded to sink the second of two free throws to break a 44-44 tie and send the Scots to the showers. A vicious Blue-and-Gold team sprang back to smash Denison, 82-49, in what may have been their finest ball game of the season, with Johnny Lacy scoring 16 points in one half. A victory over Sherman, an important district leader, concluded the first half of district play with the Scots the owners of a 2-2 record.

In between halves, the Scots defeated Northside, but weren't quite able to scale Hillcrest despite the 24-point effort of Barry Levy.

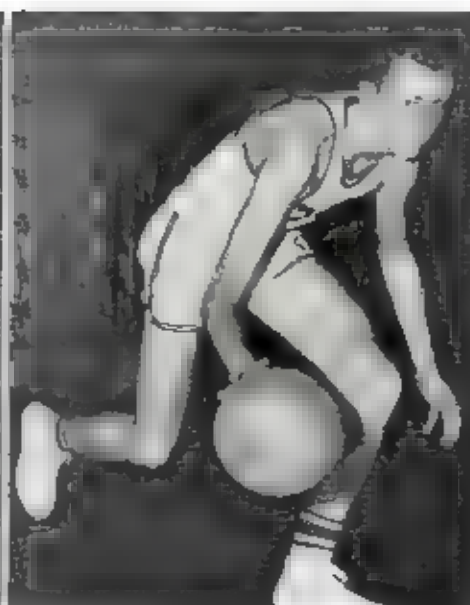

The second round opened with another heart-breaker as Denton killed the Clansmen's last real chance for the district title by a small but important four points. The big Scot man, Mack Turner, played one of his finest games and made heroic effort on both the scoreboard (19 points) and the backboards, but it was not enough. The Scotsmen went on to revenge their earlier Garland defeat 55 to 53 in an overtime period, ironically, on a free throw situation.

With 13-9 Record

On to Denison, Ben Kerr led the scoring with 24 marks as Denison again fell before the Highlander's ax. Mike Fussell's down court passing and feeds to Kerr were instrumental in the victory. Putting the sealer on a tie with Garland for second place, the Clansmen, thanks to all the rebounding of Rob See and an all-important swisher with less than ten seconds remaining by captain Sammy Burford, proved themselves just one point too good for the Sherman Bearcats. This last game was characteristic of the whole season. Playing with two starters out (due to various injuries and illnesses) the Scots had not played a game at full strength since before the Dr Pepper tourney.

Three Scots received outstanding recognition from the two Dallas papers; Burford and Levy were chosen for the All-District, Turner for second team All-District.

Carey Brooks slips through Denton defense for two points.

Hi Park's 1960 diamond squad boasted seven lettermen from the 1959 State Quarter-finalist team.

Led by Captain Billy Gannon and All-District pitcher Danny Thomas, the Scots appeared in early season to have a good chance to retain their 7-AAAA championship. All-District Johnny Lacy showed early season power at the plate.

Sophomore Corky Terry displayed outstanding potential as a catcher as did shortstop Bob Smith.

Although the first three games were called off on account of bad weather, the Scots scored a 3 to 1 victory over Thomas Jefferson and tied Adamson 3 to 3.

Coach Kennedy has a heart-to-heart talk with some of the squad members.

With twelve returning lettermen from last year's district winning team, prospects for the 1960 track season look very good, according to Coach Floyd Hightower.

Last season's sprint relay team, composed of Bridges Ballowe, Billy Gannon, and co-captains Curt Newbury and Phillip Reilly, not only set a Regional Relay record of 42.7 but also posted the second fastest time of any high school relay team in the nation. They are expected to do exceptionally well this year.

Newbury set a national record in the 100-yard dash with a 9.7 time while competing in the Junior Olympics last June. Outstanding last year in running the 880 was Grier Raggio, who is expected to do even better in the 1960 season.

Gannon and Reilly placed in the broad jump and the 220-yard dash respectively in 1959 state meet competition. One of the team's leading hurdlers, Norman Thompson, came in fourth in the Regional Meet last year.

Baseball, Basketball, Football

While the Golden Avalanche was busy taking district, the Blue Shirts battled to a 5-3 win-loss record in football.

The basketball "B" team had a very good season, finishing with a 15-2 record. These future round-ballers have great potential for district play next year.

If tradition holds true, the baseball "B" team should have a promising season. In their eight games they will contend with Woodrow Wilson, Richardson, Grand Prairie, and Garland.

Hi Park's "B" teams are composed mainly of sophomores and juniors who gain experience and practice for future varsity play.

With the addition of transfers Richard and David Quick and Mike Offner plus the leadership of Coach Jerry Culp and the experience of seven returning letterman, the Scots loomed as one of the top swimming powers in the state. Lettermen from last year were Bill Blair, Jeff Foster, Billy Hightower, Jim Holton, Bert Meadows, Allen Myers, and John Schoch.

The tankers placed third in their first outing, the Wichita Falls Invitational Meet. At the Texas Invitational High School Meet, Richard Quick splashed to two new records in the individual medley as the Blue-and-Gold copped third behind Lamar and Belaire of Houston.

Hi Park bounced back at the SMU Relays to capture trophies. The Scots downed the SMU and Texas freshmen in dual meets.

Undefeated for two years in team matches, the girls' tennis team entered into competition with good prospects for another successful year. Jean Johannes and Virginia Davis scored a decisive victory in doubles, assuring Scots first place at Wichita Falls.

Team members are determined by a "round-robin" tournament run by Coach Raymond Akin at the first of the year. The order of placement on the team also depends on the outcome of these matches.

Top Athletes Picked for GAA

GAA was organized three years ago so that girls with exceptional skills in athletics could compete with girls of equal ability. In this fourth year as a chartered club, the GAA has over fifty members.

Girls are chosen by the sponsors, Mrs. Gynne Manson and Miss Jayne Murchison, according to their capabilities as shown from games played in gym classes and from intramurals. Each member receives a patch indicating the sport and the number of years she has made that team. Persons on the winning team in each sport receive gold medals after the championship game.

The sports included in GAA are swimming, speedball, basketball, volleyball, and softball.

Becky Gould makes "the big stretch" for a basket in the GAA playoffs.

They're off with a splash! All girls wishing to participate in swimming activities meet at Joe Perkins Natatorium on the campus of Southern Methodist University near the beginning of the second six weeks of the fall semester. Teams are organized by classes with a captain for each group. Coach Carolyn Christopher selects a manager to organize the forthcoming meets.

During the sixth and final week, twenty-seven swimmers are selected for GAA. The girls on the team compete in the all-star meet which consists of eleven events. The winners of the different events receive gold medals.

There are three types of events offered to the contestants of the various meets held during the season. Girls interested in speed swimming race in freestyle, backstroke, and breaststroke, and butterfly. Individual and group relays are also a part of this program. The four previously mentioned strokes are also open to girls interested in form swimming. The third type of event is diving. Each swimmer is given the chance to prove her skill in the competition held at the end of each meet.

Intramurals

Intramurals is the after-school program set up for girls in various sports. They choose their own teams and captains. The sports offered are ping-pong, tenniquoits, and basketball in the fall and volleyball, badminton, and softball in the spring.

Round-robin or elimination tournaments are held in both the Monday-Wednesday league and the Tuesday-Thursday league. Groups select the league in which they wish to compete.

At the end of each sport, a championship game is held between the winning teams in each league. The members of the winning side are invited to a luncheon in the spring.

Medals are given at the end of the year to all girls having met the attendance requirements.

All gym classes choose teams at the first of each semester. These groups compete in tournaments held in tenniquoits, speedball, and basketball in the fall and volleyball and softball in the spring. The winning teams then vie for the championship in a series of games after school.

At the same time the class games are being played in the afternoons, contests are held between all-star teams selected from the gym classes at the end of each sport. These teams consist of girls showing the best ability in class tournaments.

As the end of the afternoon matches, the victorious class team then plays the top all-star team. The winner of this game is then declared champion. This system holds true in all sports except softball, which, due to lack of time, is eliminated.

The purpose of having such a program is to enable all girls, regardless of ability, to participate more fully in each sport taught in gym classes. It also helps to create team spirit and a sportsmanlike attitude in the participants.

Seniors, juniors, and sophomores are the three classes which comprise Scotland's student body. Although the different groups mix on many occasions, a pupil participates in most activities and shares the interests of his fellow classmates.

With the graduation this year of the January seniors, only one more group of "mid-termers" remained at Highland Park.

Avalanche Re-enacts Season at Banquet

"Well, I don't know about that," explains Kent Johnson to Tommy Thornton, Bobby Boyer, and "Nazi" Jimmy Jones at the football banquet.

High juniors Jimmy Livingston and Jimmy Carmichael make that important decision of which senior ring to buy.

Senior Rings Tempt Juniors

With one year behind and one year ahead, juniors embarked upon the middle grade of high school.

They found awaiting them many hours of extra-curricular work on the publications, Student Council, and other organizations, plus regular school studies.

Spring brought the Junior-Senior Prom, ordering of senior rings, college boards, and the National Merit Scholarship Exams.

Following elections in April, the new school leaders were introduced to all Scots, installed by the outgoing officers, and duly prepared for their respective jobs for the ensuing year when finally they would be seniors.

Girls Gab Before School in Halls

"And did you know that—" Lenox McClendon reveals to enthralled listeners.

Ben Hill's wheels can almost be heard grinding as he takes the "pin-pushing" test at orientation.

Orientation Welcomes Sophs

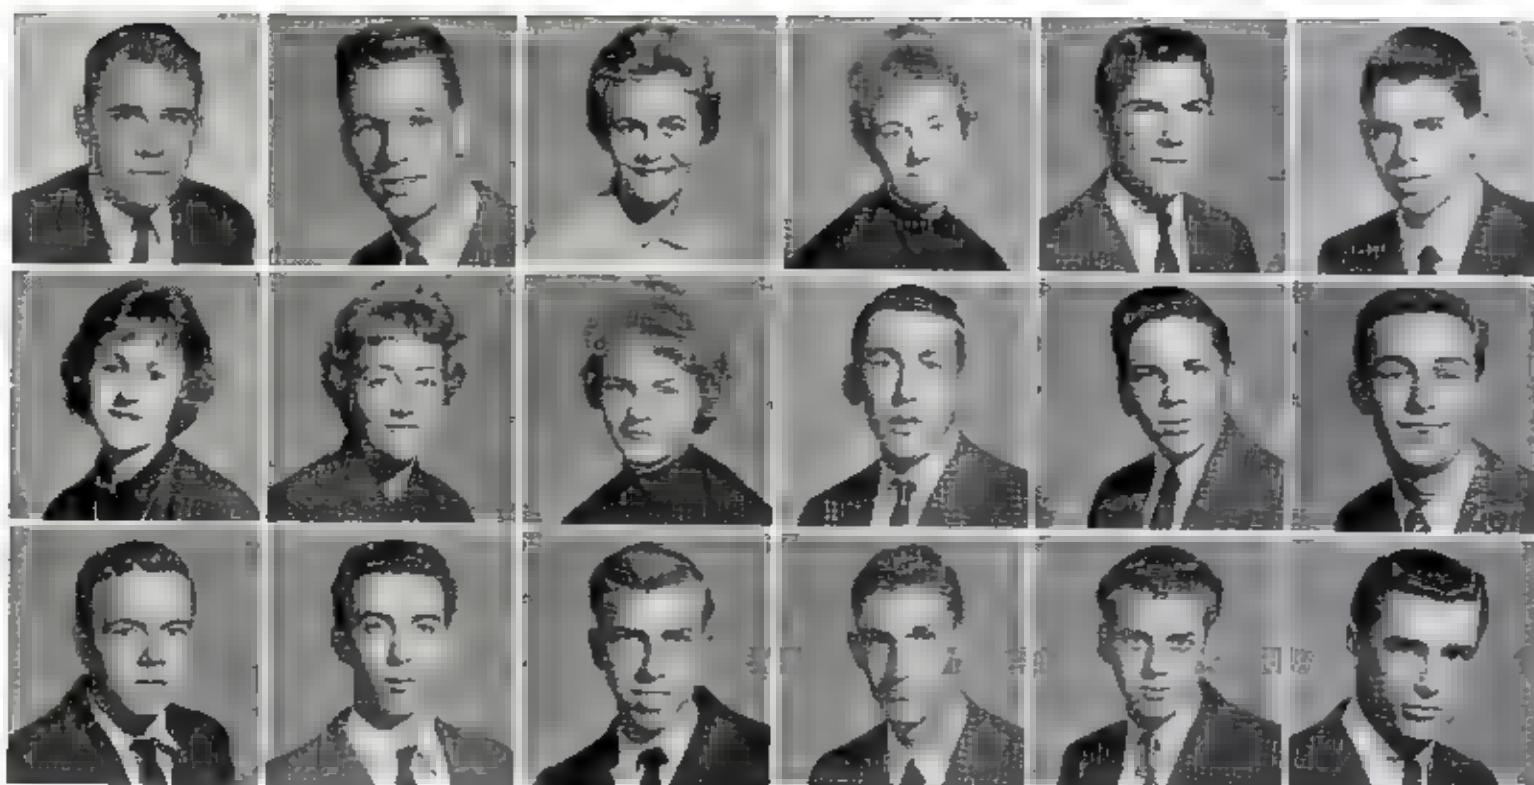

Mazes of halls, stacks of books, and many new faces greeted sophomores as they began their three-year career at Highland Park High School.

Sophs first became acquainted with Scot traditions and customs and the general plan of the school during orientation, which is held just a few days before the start of the fall semester.

As the year progressed, these new clan members eagerly pursued their studies, which included everything from plotting graphs to the reading of two novels, A Tale of Two Cities and Silas Marner.

A sign that they were full-fledged Scots came in the spring, when the sophomores participated in the school election and realized that after final exams they would be juniors.

Advertisers Back Clansmen

Good public relations and co-operation are important to any school. By selling ads to many business concerns throughout the city, the Highlander staff stimulates an interest in Highland Park High School and its students. Ad salesmen work during the summer, fall, and winter soliciting advertisements, collecting copy, and taking pictures.

REDDY-MADE MAGIC FOR YOUR FUTURE

There's plenty of magic in your future, thanks to Reddy Kilowatt! Cooking meals fit for a king is just one of the "elec-tricks" Reddy already performs with ease. Just as easily he can wash your clothes, mow the lawn, cool or heat your home, entertain you with TV, radio or stereo — and do dozens of other things that once were chores.

But Reddy has even more exciting things in store for you, for the future is electric. Plans for new ways to live better, electrically are on the drawing board now — and every day, research and development are going on to create new miracles with electricity. You can be sure — there's a wonderful world ahead for you, full of Reddy-made magic!

Dear Anne.
I have enjoyed knowing you during a high and new high shell. The sweet as you are you are yet so in the most.

To another real candy-eater of 4th period chorus - CRUMBLES! Have a ball next year and stay as sweet as you are always. It's been ~~terrific~~ (who can spell at this point?)
terrific knowing you. Be good!

Love,
Betsey
